HEARKENING.

Psal. 103. 20, ye angels A. to the voice of his HEART.

The Hebrews look upon the heart as the source of wit, understanding, love, courage, grief, and pleasure. Hence are derived many ways of speaking. An honest and good heart; that is, a heart studious of holiness, being prepared by the Spirit of God, to entertain the word with the Spirit of God, to entertain the word with due affections, dispositions, and resolutions, Luke 8.15. We read of a broken heart, a clean heart, an evil heart, a hardened heart, a liberal heart, a heart that does on act of hindmess, freely, voluntarily, with generosity. To incline the heart to God; to bessech him to change our stony hearts into hearts of flesh, to love with all one's heart, 4c. To turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, Mal. 4. 6. that is, to cause them to be perfectly recon-cited, and that they should be of the same mind. Let no man's heart fail; let no man be dis-couraged, 1 Sam. 17, 32.

Let no man's near tail; set no men be dis-consaged, 1 Sam. 17. 32.

o want heart, sometimes denotes to went under-standing and prudence. Hos. 7. 11, Ephraim is like a silly dove, without heart; they call to Egypt, they go to Asiyria. They have no judgment or understanding of the right may, to free themselves from their troubles, which is to Egypi, they go to dispria. They have no judgmens or understanding of the right way, to free themselves from their troubles, which is seen in their reading to Egypt and Assyria. O fools and alow of heart, ignorant men without insight and waderstanding, Luke 24.
25. This people's heart is wavel gross; lest they should understand with their heart, Mat. 13. 15. Their heart is stupfied, so as to be destitute of understanding; they resist the light, and reject all impressions of truth. The prophets prophesy out of their own hearts, Each. 13. 2. They prophesy according to their own inclinations and affections, and what their own inclinations and affections, and what their own inclinations and affections, and what their own inclinations and affections, the without the seen of the control of their own inclinations and affections, it has no remember it, to apply one's self to it, to have it at heart. No man layer it to heart it o set one's heart on any thing; that it, for remember it, to apply one's self to it, to have it at heart. No man layer it to the heart, no one concerns himself about it, Jer. 12. 11.

The heart dilates with joy, contracts with teadness, breaks with sorrow, gross fets, and hardens it prosperity; it resists truth; Ged opens it, prepares and turns it as he pleases. To steal one's heart, it an expression in Gen. 31. 120. Jacob stole away the heart of Laban; that it, he went forsakes one, under terrer; the heart is desolate, in amasement; the heart is fluctuating, in doubt. To speak to one's heart, to comfort for same and present in the heart of the seas, in the midst of the sam, in the midst of the sam, in the midst of the sam, to appear the midst of the seas, in the midst of the sam, the midst of the seas, in the midst of the sam, to say pleasing and affecting things to him. By the heart likewise the middle of my thing it meant: Tyre is in the heart of the seas, in the midst of the sam, to say pleasing and three nights in the heart of the earth, in the grave, Mat. 12. 40.

HEAR.
Signifies, (1) To receive a voice or cound by the ear, 2 Sam. 15. 10. (2) To great or ensurer our prayer. Paal. 116. 1, I love the Lord, because he hath heard my voice. It is often used in this sense, in the Paalms and elsewhere.
And God is said not to hear, when he does not great one's desires. John 9. 31, We know that God heareth not sinners. (3) To listen to God's words only with the outward sense of the ear.
Mat. 13. 19, When any one heareth the word of the kingdom and understandeth it not. Thus all vicidud men whe are within the church do Mat. 13. 19. When any one hearest he word of the kingdom and understandeth it not. Thus all wicked men who are within the church do hear the word; they hear the sound of the words, but then they have not so much as a notional knowledge of these things, or size regard them not, nover consider, or lay them to heart.

(4) To yield a willing assent in our minds to the word of God, with a firm purpose to obey it. I John 8. 47, He that is of God, heareth God's word; he believes and obeys it. So in John 10. 27, My sheep hear my voice, and follow Come. It is nuce of tim in this resus. Deut. 1. 43, I spake unto you, and ye would not hear; ye would not obey me. 1 Sam. 24. 9, Wherefore hearest thou men's words? Why believes then what mine enemies say against me? So in Mat. 17. 5. This is my beloved Son, her him; believe and obey him. (5) To learn, John 8. 26, 40, I speak to the world those things which he hath taught me, which he hath communicated to me. (6) To approve of, and embrace. I John 4. 5. They speak of the world, and the world heareth them; these schucers and false teachty praces such destrince as may gratify and comply with the corrupt effections of worldy men, and they greedly hearken to, approve, and ombrace such destrines as may gratify and comply with the corrupt effections of worldy men, and they greedly hearken to, approve, and ombrace such destrines are good and right, but 268

He river in Paradise was divided into four head into four springs, four branches, Gen. 2, 16. The stone which the builders rejected, we made the head of the corner, Psal. 118, 22, was the first in the angle, whether is were diposed at the top of that angle to adorn and crow it, or at the bottom to support it. Thus in the Net Testament is applied to Christ, who is the strength and beauty of the church, to unsite it several parts thereof, namely, both Jewn and Gentiles, regether. Thou hast caused men ride over our heads, Psal. 66, 12. Thou has given us masters who use us like slaves, yea, fit beatts to carry their burdens. The Lord aha make thee the head, and not the tail, Deur. 21. Thou shalt be always master, and mere in subjection. he river in Paradise was divided into four head that is, less beloved. Thus our Saviour says, that he who would follow him, must hate father and mother; that is, should love them less them to Christ, less than his own selention; he ought not to prefer them to God. Solomon says, that he that spareth his rod, hateth his son, he hateth his not, hateth his in his a proper instance of affection, to forbear correcting them; that fond affection is at a proper instance of affection is at permicious to their children, as either men's hatered could be; they keep back from them what would do them god. There is a smiticious hatered of the persons of men, not of their sims; thus Ahab hated the Lord's prophet Micaish, I Kinge 22. 8. And wicked men do thus hate the righteous. Peal. 3. 21, They that hate the righteous shall be desolate. There is also an hatred of the sins of men, not of their persons; thus the righteous hate even the garmar-posted with corruption, Jude 23. What I hate, that do I, Rom. 7. 15. The godly hate sin, because it is a breach of God's law.

Thou art not seit unto a people of an hard language, of an amintelligible language; that is, they will used no interpreter to understand them, neither will them, to understand them. Hannah said to Eli, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit, Heb. hard of spirit. I know thee that thou art an hard man, a severe, ensere, rigorous, and churlish man Mat. 25. 24. Solomon says, that the way of transgressors is hard, or rough, it is offensive and hateful to God and men, as rough ways are to a traveller. Or, he is farce, intractable, and inversible in his sinful course, Prov. 13. 15. When God is said to harden the heart, it is not to be understood as if God did properly and positively make men's kearts hard, but only privately, either by denying to them, or withdrawing from them that grace, which alone can make the hearts of men soft, fasible, and pliable to the divine will; as the run hardens the clay by drawing out of it that moisture which made it soft; or by exposing them to these temptations of the world, or the devil, which meeting with a corrupt heart, are aps to harden it.

Is a part of the body well known. By hand, is constitues understood the vengeance of God exercised upon any one; I Sam. 5.6, 7. The hand of the Lord was heavy upon them of Ashdod, after they had taken the ark, and had been told that is should continue to opputes them, till they should send it back with presents.

To pour water on any one's hands, signifies to serve him. Thus Elisha is said to have powed water on Elijah's hands, thereby meaning that he was his servent, ? Kings 3. 11.

To wash one's hands, denoted that the person was imnovemed of manulempher, when the murderer was not known, Deut. 21. 6, 7. Pilate washed hir hands, Malt. 27. 24. to denote his being inhuncered of what was required of him, when is hands.

her heads, Dial. XI. 'Ve. to denote his owing in-mocense of what was required of him, when he proceeded to condemn. Jesus, in whom he found mothing to deterior such a senience. Some think that Plate, living among the Jews, had learned this rite from them; but others are of opinion, that it was externoony used in protestations of immocency among other people as well as the Inve that is used a ceremony used in processations of innecency among other people as well as the Jows.

To kiss one's hand, is an act of adoration, Job 31.97. If I beheld the sun when it shined, and my mouth had kissed my hand. To fill one's hand, signifies to put one impostersion of the priesthood, to enter him in the enjoyment of the inectal dignity; because in one: ceremony the parts of the victim which were to be offered were put into the new priests annel. Exod. 28.41. Thou shalt consecrate them; in Hobrew, fill their hand. See also Judg. 17.5, 18.1 Kings 13.33.

To lean upon any one's hand, is a mark of familiarity and superiority. The king of Israel had one of his confidents upon whom he leaned, 2 Kings 7.2, 17. And in like manner the hing of Syria leaned on Nanman, when he went up to the temple of his god Rimmon, 2 Kings 5.18.

To lift up one's hand, is a may of taking an eath

To lift up one's hand, is a way of taking an oath on use with all nations. Gen. 14. 22, I have lifted up mine hands unto the Lord. It was in use with all nations. Gen. 14. 22, 1 have lifted up mine hands unto the Lord. It was likewise a posture used in praying for a blessing upon the people. Lev. 9. 22, Aaron lifted up his hands towards the people, and blessed them. To lift up the hand against one, is to rebel against him. 2 Sam. 20. 21, Sheba hath lifted up his hand against king David.

To give one's hand, riguifest to grant peace, to swear friendship, to promise all security, to make alliance. 2 Kings 10. 15, Jeha said to Jehosadab, Is thine heart right, as my heart is with thy heart? If it be, give me thine hand; and his gave him his hand. The Jews tay, they were obliged to give the hand to the Expetinus and Assyrians, that they might precure bread; that is, to surrender to them, to make an alliance with them, that they might be enabled to rubsist, that in their extreme necessity they might preserve their lives. Others think abled to misset, that in their extreme necessity they might present their lives. Others think that by this phrase is meent, that the Jown wore glad to labour with their hands, and work for them, in order to procure the necessaries of life, Lam. 5. 6.
Ight hand. The right hand denotes power, sife, Lam. 5. 6. Light hand denotes power, arrangth. The scripture generally imputes to God's right hand all the effects of his ommigretnee. Exod. 15. 6, Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious in power; thy right hand, O Lord, hath dashed in pieces the enemy. See Pasl. 17. 7. | 20. 6. | 44. 3. os it down on the right hand of God. o set any on the right hand of God. He son of God is often represented as sitting at the right hand of his heavenly Father. Paal. 110.

1. The Lord said to my Lord, sit thou at my right hand. Thou hast done thy work upon ourth, now take possession of that sovereign kingdom and glory; which by right belongest to thee; do then rule with authority and honour, as them are. Madiater.

anguom and glory; which by right belongeth to thee; do then rate with authority and honour, as then are Medictor.

The right hand commonly denotes the South, as the left hand denotes the North. For the Hebrews speak of the queriers of the world in respect of themselves, having their faces turned towards the East, their backs to the West, their right hands so the South, and their left to the North. Thus Kodem, which signifies before, stands olso for the East; and Achor, which signifies the first hand, is the South; and Shamol, the left hand, is the North. For esample: Doth not Darid hide himself with us in strong holds in the woods, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on accuse him.

Often, in a contrary sense to be at one's right hand signifies to defend, to protect, to support him.

Paal. 16. 81, 109. 31, 1 have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand I shall not be moved. For he shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save him from those that condernn his soul.

him from those that condemn his soul.

To turn from the law of God, neither to the right head, nor to the left, is a frequent Scripture expression, Joah. 1. 7. | 23. 6. 2 Kings 22. 2. The meaning is, that we must not depart from it at all, neither by attempting to go beyond it, and doing more than it requires, nor by doing lests. But we must observe it closely, constantly, and invariably, as a straveller, who does not go out of his way, either to the right or to the left.

In Saviour, in Mat. 6. 3, to thew with what privacy we should do good works, says, That our left hand should not know what our right hand does. Above all things we should avoid vanity and ostensation in all the good we undertake to do, ottentation in all the good we undertake to do, and should not think that thereby we merit any

To stretch or spread out the hands, is sometimes a festure that denotes mercy. Isa. 65. 2, I have stread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people; I have invited them by my proviets, and used all means to alter them to mysself. So in Prov. 1. 24, I have called, and ye have refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded. I would not put forth my hand against the Lord's anointed, I would not man the lord in the lord of the put forth one's hand upon any thing, to take, to stead it. Exod. 22. 8, 11, He shall swear that he hash not put his hands to his neighbour's goods. o stretch or spread out the hands, is sometime that he hath not put his hands to his neighbour's goods.

Hand is likewise frequently taken for the power and impression of the Holy Spirit felt by some prophet. 1 Kings 18. 46, The hand of the Lord was on Elijah. See 2 Kings 3. 15, Ezek. 1. 3. | 3. 14. It is said in several places, that God gave his law, or sent his orders by the hand of Moses, or some other grouphet; that he spake to his people by the hand of prophets, i.e. that is, by their means, by their meath.

hand of prophets, i.e. that it, by their means, by their menth.

Anying on hands, or imposition of hands, is understood in different ways both in the Old and New Testamens. (1) It is often taken for ordination and consecration of priests and ministers, as well among the Jews as Christians, Nium.

8. 10. Act 6. 6. | 13. 3. 1 Tim. 4. 14. (2)

It is sometimes also made use of to signify the establishment of judges and magistrates, on whom it was usual to lay hands, when they were intrusted with these employments: Thus when Moses constituted Joshua his encessor, Ged appointed him to lay his hands upon him, Num. Dioses constituted Joshua his successor, God appointed him to lay bis hands upon him, Num. 27. 18. Jacob leid his hands upon Ephralm and Manasseh, when he gave them his lest blussing, Gen. 48. 14. he high-priest stretched out his hands to the pro-sing, Oem. so. The highest stretched out his hands to the people, as often as he recited the selemn form of blessing, Lav. 9. 22. The Israelies who procented sin-offerings at the tabernacle, confessed their sine, while they laid their hands upon them, Lav. 1. 4. The tassified that the person acknowledged himself worthy of death, that he laid his sine upon the sacrifice that he trusted in Christ for the aspiation of his sine, and that he devoted himself to God. Witness laid their hands upon the head of the accused person, as it were to rignify that they charged upon him the guilt of his blood, and freed themselves from it, Deut. 13. 9. 17. 7. Our Senour laid his hands upon the children that were presented to him, and blessed them, Mark 10. 16. And the Holy Choist was conferred on those who were beptized, by the laying on of the Apatile's hands, Acts 8. 17. 19. 0.

There was abundance of fine vineyards, and ex-cellent grapes in Palentine. How large this fruit was in that country, we may judge by the buncy of grapes which was cut in the valley of Eshcol, and was brought upon a staff be-tween two men to the camp of Israel at Ka-deshbarnen, Num. 13, 23, 24. Travellers relate, that there was some to be seen there of a predicious size. Strabo and Pliny afirm, the seeme of the needs of the seeme. Some affirm, that in the nelley of Packets there were bunches of grapes to be found still of ten and tractor pannets.

The blood of grapes, Gen. 49. 11. signifies wine. He washed his clothes in the blood of grapes, His habitation shall be in a country where there are vinequets. And Deut. 32. 14. Thou didst drink the pure blood of the grape; pura, mamined wine. The fathers have eaten a sour grape, and the children's tech are set on edge, Jer. 31. 39. Each. 18. 9. This is a proverbank way of speaking in the sacred test; meaning, that the fathers have sinned, and the children have borne the punishment of their crimes. It was a complaint made by the Jews to God, who punished those sins in them, whereof they pretended they were not guilty. But the Lord said, he would cause this provers to cease in Israel, and that for the future every one should suffer the spusishment of his own sinquity.

GRACE

Alage 4. 39, one gathered wise g. has hap sunfavour of God, which is the spring and source of all the benefits which is the spring and source of all the benefits which we receive from him. Rom. 11. 6, And if by grace, then it is no more of works. 2 Tim. 1. 9, Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, according to his own purpose and grace. Thus free and summerited love of God is the original mover in our salvation, and hath no cause above it to excite or draw it forth, but merely arises from his own will. It was this merey or love of God that found out redemption for mankind: God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son to die for us, John S. 16. And what could his love give more than the life of his Son? (2) Grace is taken mankind. God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son to die for us, John 3. 10. And what could his love give more than the life of his Son? (2) Grace is taken for the free imputation of Christ's righteourness, by the merit whereof true believere become righteems in the night of God. Rom. 5. 20, Where sin abounded grace did much more abound. (3) For the work of the Spirit, renewhould. (3) For the work of the Spirit, renewhould, is the condition of the Spirit, renewhould, grace in abounded grace did much more to obey his will, to resist and mortify sin, and to overcome it. Rom. 6. 14, Ye are not under the law, but under grace. 2 Cor. 12, 9, My grace is sufficient for thee. (4) For their excellent and blessed state of reconciliation, friendshy, and favour with God, which God graciously bestons upon his people. The Gospal is a revolution of the grace of God to fallen man through a Medicator. Or, it is a wise, a holy, and gracious constitution of God, for the recovery of fallen, sinful, and miserable man, from that deplorable states into which sin had brought him, by sending his own Son Jesus Christ in the flesh, to obey his law which man had broken, to make a proper atonement for sin by his death, and thus to procure parton, and the fanour of God, and estrual happiness for all that believe and report, and receive the gospel-allousies; tagether with a promise of the Holy Spirit to work this faith and repentance in their hearts, to renew their sinful natures unto holiness, not to bring them to the full possession of it in heaven.

Hence it is called the gospel of God, as it came originally from the Father, Rom. 1. 1. It is called the gospel of God, as it came originally from the Father, Rom. 1. 1. It is called the gospel of God, as its grace is bestowed. It is called the gospel of God nationally is the means whereby his grace is testioned. It is called the gospel of God nationally is the means whereby his grace is testioned. It is called the gospel of Cod, act 80.

24. because it proceeds from, end manifests his favour, and is the means whereby his grace is testioned. It is called the gospel of Cod, act 80.

It brings the good news that substation is the headthen through faith, preached before the gospel unto Abraham, and were contained in heads where the Util Testement. Gal. 3. 8, The Scripture foreseeing that God would justify the least the through faith, preached before the gospel unto Abraham, and were contained in that gromise made to him, which is the sum of the covenant, in thy seed shall all nations be blessed, Gem. 22. 18.

The word gospel, in blessed, Gen. 22. 18.

The word gospel, in the original, Evarythros, signifies good news, or glad tidings. And surely when a sinner, who is esposed to the wrath of Cod, is sentible of his guilt and danger, it must needs be glad tidings to him to hear of a way of salvation, and an all-sufficient Saviour. I sopel is taken for an historical narration of what Christ did and spake, of his life, mirecles, death, resurrection, and doctrine; as the Gospel according to Matthew, Mark, dec. The beginning of the gospel of Christ, Mark 1. 1. Sometimes it is taken for the preaching and publication of the gospel, and administration of affairs that concern it. Rom. 1. 9, Whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son. It is put for the doctrines of free grace, Rom. 11. 28.

This is one of the names which we gire to the estruel, influite, and incomprehensible Being, the Creator of all things, who preserves and every thing by his almighty power and window, and is the only object of our worther. The Ilebrews gipe to God generally the name of JKHUVAH, he who exists of himself, and gitts being and existence to others: this is a name inegable and mystericus, which denotes the tetrusty, immuniciality, and independency of God, and the infallible certainty of his worn, and promuses. The import of this name is expended and predicted of Christ, in Kev. 1.6, 8. The Hebrewa had such a reservation for this holy mame, that they never pronounced it, but instead of it made use of their of Adunai, which signifies they mere pronounced it, but instead of its made use of their of Adunai, which signifies properly My Lords, in the pluing product mumber: and of Elohi, Eloi, or Elohim. They likewise called him El, which signifies Strong; robadded, whereby may be meant one who is self-influence; or, according to another pronunciation, the Descreper, the ponetyled Dae; or Eloion, the most High, or El-ababooth, the God of Hoster, as for the most reset doit in all This name JEHOVAH, in the Hebrew, consists of jour letters, as for the most part at doth in all languages. Thus among the Persians the name is Eaps; among the Arabiana, Alla; among the

To go down, and go up; We go up to Jerusalem, Mat. 20. 18. He goes down to Jericho, Luke 10. 30. Abraham went up out of Egypt, Gen. 13. 1. Jacob went down into Egypt, Gen. 46. 3. Go up to Ai, Josh, 7. 3. He went down to Cesarea, Acts 12. 19. By all which nothing more is meant, than that they went to Jerusalem, into Egypt, to Jericho, Ai, and Cesarea; but the situation of the place they were going to, is described by the words going up and going down.

To go down into hell, or school; to go down to the grave, the place where the dead are. Paal.

the grave, the place where the dead are. Pal.

55. 15. Let them go down quick into hell, Let them go down alive into the grave; cut them off by a rudden and violent death, like Korah, Dahan, and Abiram. The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go down into silence; into the grave, Pal. 115. 17. All they that go down to the dust, shall bow before him, Fial. 22. 29. Such as are poor, and in great misery and distress, shall own, submit unto, and adore Christ as their supreme Lord.
They who go down into the sea, are the marchants or mariners who make congest upon the sea, Pal. 107. 23. Jouah says, that he went down to the very bottoms of the mountains; that is, to the bottom of the sea, where the mountains have their basis and foundation, Jonah 2. 6.

Is taken for worldly splendour and magnificence, which make kings glorious before man, Mat. 6. 29. Solomon in all his glory, in all his lutte, and in his richest ornament, was not so beautiful as a lily. Thus riches, authority, sumptious building and garments, which make their possessors glorious before men, are celled in acripture glory. Pal. 49. 16, When the glory of his house is increased. By glory is manned the tengue, which is that peculiar excellency, wherein chiefly, except reason, man surpasses all other creatures. Pal. 16. 9, My hourt is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: My tongue breats out into holy boastings and grive praise, oven with my glory. The glory of the king of Assyria, is his splendid princes, brave captains, valient commanders, and powerful armies, which would make a gellant shew, and wherein he would glory, and boast exceedingly. Isa, 8.7, The Lord bringeth upon them the king of Assyria, and all his glory. Glory is put for the ark of the covenent, which was a glorious type and assurance of God's presence, and the great safe-yeard and ernament of Israel, which they could glory in above all other nations. I Sam. 4. 21, The glory is departed from Israel. Rom. 9. 4, To whom pertaineth the glory.

Glory is put for the cherch, which God makes of Israel, which they could glory in above all other nations. 1 Sam. 4. 21. The glory is departed from Israel. Rom. 9. 4, To whom pertaineth the glory.

Glory is put for the church, which God makes glorious, not only in his own eyes, but even in the eyes of the world. Isa. 4. 5. Upon all the glory shall be a defence; upon all holy assemblies of sincere Christians. It is put for grace, 2 Cor. 3. 18, We are changed into the same image, from glory to glory; growing from one degree of glorious grace to another, till it come to its perfection in eternal glory. The upostle calls man the image and glory of God, and for this reason he ought not to cover his head; that is, Since God would have the male set to be a kind of representation of his glory, majesty, and power, a man ought not, hy hising his face, wherein these things are most compicuous, to concent the glory of God shining in him. David calls God his glory, Paal. 3. 3. Thou art my glory; then are the Author of that royal dignity to which I am adonneed: Or, thou art the matter of my glorying, thom hast formerly given, and with further give me occasion of glorying or boasting of thy power and favour to me. Glory is taken for the unspeakable blesseduess, joy, and felicity of the seists in heaven. Paal. 73. 24. Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory. God promites to be to his church a wall of fire round about, and the glory in the midst, each $2. $5. that he would protect his charch, and that his presence and power should make her glorious. It is put for the presence of God, Paal. 63. 2.

When the Israelites forsook God in the wildernass, they changed their glory, into the similitude of an ox that eateth grass, Peal. 106. 20. But it is to be understood of thes authority, and impire, whereof he stood in need for the government of the people. Moses laid his hands on him, and by this ceremony appointed him for his successor in the conduct of the Investigation, there he might acquit himself with humour in this employment.

The glory of God. Moses earnessly begged of God to show him his glory. Exod. 35.18, 1 beseech thee, show me try glory; that is, the highest manifestation of thy divine glory that I am capable of; or that glorious thope, which, together with an human voice, thou hast now assumed. The heavens declare the glory of God, Psal. 19.1. The visible heavens efford matter and occasion, in respect of their vasi estant, glorious furniture, and powerful influences, to acknowledge and admire the glorious being, infinite power, wischem, and goodness of God. The glory of the Lord hath filled the house of the Lord; that is, the cloud, which was an unual token of God's glorione prosence, 1 kings. 8.11. Christ says to Martha, John 11.40, If thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God; that is, an admirable instance of the miracles which our Saviour virought, manifested in the deliverance of the that it, the glorious power, in raising thy dead brother. The miracles which our Saviour virought, manifested that it, the glorious power and goodness of God shall be manifested in the deliverance of the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, Isa. 40.5. that is, the glorious power and goodnate of God shall be manifested in the deliverance of the Jews from Babylon, but more especially in the redemption of all nations by our Lord Jesus Christ. lebrows generally were no girdle in the about them, as the eastern people still at this day wear them. This oppears from many paisages of the Old and New Testament. Elijah girded up his loins, and ran before Ahab, I Kinge 18, 46. And Elisha ordered his tervant Gehani to gird up his loins, and to go and lay his staff on the face of the Shunamite's child, 2 Kinge 5, 29. Our Saviour putting himself in a proper condition to weath the feet of his disciples, girt himself about with a towel, John 13. 4. The soldiers likewise had their belts generally girt about them, to which the Paalmist alludes, Paal. 18. 39. Thou hast girded me with strength unto the battle.

Belts or girdles were often made of very precious stuff. The virtuous noman made rich girdles, and sold them to the merchants, Prov. 31. 24. These virules were used in community he merand note them to the merchants, Prov. 51. 24. These girdles were used in common both by men and momen. Our Lord appeared to St. John in a girdle of gold, Rev. 1. 13. noting the excel-lency of his ministration as Priest. And in and somes. Or love species to S. John in a girdle of gold, Rev. 1. 13. noting the excellency of his ministration as Priest. And in Rev. 15. 6. the store magels, who came out of the tample, were clothed with linen, and girt about with golden girdles. On the contrary, the prophets, and persons who make particular professions of humility and contempt of the world, wore girdles of leather. The prophet Elijah had one of this sort, 2 Kings 1. 8. as well as John the Baptist, Mat. 3. 4. In times of mourning they used girdles of sackcloth, as marks of humiliation and sorrow. Gold threatens the daughters of Zion, who had offended him with the excess of their ornaments, to reduce them to the wearing of sackcloth, Isa. 3.24. And in chap. 22. 12. the Lord threatens Jerssalem with bringing her into captivity, with cutting off her hair, the instrument of her pride, and obliging her to gird herself about with sackcloth.

ment of her pride, and obliging her to gird herself about with sackcloth. The utilitary girdle, or bett, did not come over the thoulder, as among the old Greeks, but was morn upon the loins; whence the following expressions have their original. Every man had his sword girded by his side, or upon his loins, NAA. 4. 18. Girded with girdles upon their loins, Eack. 23. 15. These belts were generally rich, and sometimes given as rewards to soldiers. Joah tells him who had seen Abadom hanging on a tree, that if he had smitten him to the ground, he would have given him ten heckels of silver and a gurdle, 2 Sam. 18. 11. Jonathan the son of Saul made David a present of his girdle, 1 Sam. 18. 4. Job, seating the power of God, says, That he looseth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loins with a girdle; he deposeth them from their thrones, and reducath them to a mean and servile condition. Job 12. 18.

Job 12. 18.
The priest's girdle or sash was of several colours, of gold, of blue, and purple and scarlet, and fine twinced linen. Exod. 28. 4, 8. Josephus says, that the priests wore is upon their breast, under their urms; that a kind of flower-work was there represented, with threads of purple, rearlet, and hyacinth; that it went twice round scated, and hyacinth; that it went twice round the body, was tied before, and the ends hong down to the feet, to render the priests more venerable. When they were in the act of sacrificing, thay thrus this girdle over the left shoulder, that they might perform that office with the greater freedom.

The girdle, was used formerly for a purse, as appears from Mat. 10. 9, where our Saviour forbids his Apostles to carry money in their purses, or girdles. These girdles were large and hollow, much like the cast skin of a serpent, or en eal.

and hollow, much like the cast skin of a serpent, or an eal.
Our Savinar says, Luke 12.35, Let your loins be girded about; that is, be always prepared for any stroice that God requires of you, and diligent about it: be like servente who are girded, and ready to obey their master's commands, or like soldiers who wait for orders from their commanders. The Apostle Paul, the stroit of the loins. Eph. 6.14, Having your loins girt about with truth: that is. from inter commanders. In Apostic Paul, describing the Christian's armour, makes truth the girdle of the loins. This is the title prefet of Palping 8. 81. and 84.

This is the title prefixed to Paalma 8, 81, and 84. The conjectures of theterpreters are various concerning this word. Some think it signifies a word of musical instrument, or tune to which they were set; others, that the hymno of this inde were invented in the city of Gath; others, that Gittish signifies wine-presses, and that the Psalma with this title were song after the vistage; others that if wine-presses were meant by it, it should be Gitteth; and that Gitteth signifies a woman of Gath; and that these Psalma were given to the class of young women, or songstesses of Gath, to be song by them. Dr. Hammond thinks that the Psalma with that title were all set to the same tune, and made on Goliath the Gittite.

this word Nephilim, *Existentity upon theirs enumies; a translation, says one, which renders very well the whole force of the Hebrew term. Symmachus translation is Busius, violent men, cruel, whose only rule of their actions is riolence, and force of arms.

The Scripture cells them sometimes Rephalms. For example: Chedorisomer and his allies beat the Rephaims, or giants, at Ashteroth Karnaim, Gen. 14.5. The Emims, ancient inhabitants of the land of Moab, were of a gigantic stature, they were of the number of the Rephalms and the Periusites are joined tegether as old inhabitants of the land of Cannan, Gen. 15. 20. but says, that the ancient Rephalms mourn or groam under the waters, Job 26. 5. These giants of the old world. tants of the land of Cannan, Gen. 15. 20. Job says, that the mexicost Rephaims moura or grown wader the waters, Joh 26. 5. These since the old world, who once carried them selves inselectly towards God and men, but were quickly suddued by the divine power, and drowned with a defuge, do now mourn or grown from under the waters where they were huried, or in their rudterraneam and informal habitations. But this passage is otherwise explained by some. Solomon, in Prov. 2. 18. says, that the paths of a debauched woman lead to the Rephaims, that is, to hell, where the rebellions gients are; and that he who deviates from the ways of usidom, shall go and duedl in the arsembly of the giants in hell, Prov. 21. 16.
The Annkims, or the soms of Anak, were the most famous giants of Palestine. They dwell at Hebron, and thereabouts. Their statute was so much above what was common, that the Israelites, who were sent to view the promised land, told the people at their return, that they had seen giants of the race of Anak in this coveries, who were sent to view the promised land, told the people at their return, that they had seen giants of the race of Anak in this coveries, who were sent to view the promised land, told the people at their return, that they had seen giants of the race of Anak in this coveries, who were sent to view the promised the Israelites, in comparison, were but grasshoppers to them, Num. 13. 33.
The Septuagint sometimes translate the Hebrew word Gibbor, giant, though literally it similar he Septuagint sometimes translate the Hebrew word Gibbor, giant, though literally it signifies word Gibbor, giant, though literally is signifies mo more than a strong man, a man of valour and bravery, a warrior. For example: they say that Nimrod was a giant before the Lord, Gen. 10. 8. 9. That the sun rises like a giant to run its course, Paal. 19. 5. That the Lord will destroy the giant and the warlike man, Isa. 3. 2. That he will call his giants in the same of the sa nan, Isa. 3. 2. That he will call his giants in his wrath, to take vengeance of his cuemies, Isa. 13. 3. That he will destroy the power of Egypt by the sucre of his giants, that is, of variors, Exek. 32, 12, 21, 27.

warriors, Exek. 32, 15, 21, 27, 15, to the existence of giants, several writers, both ancient and modern, have imagined, that the giants spoken of in Scripture were indeed men of an extraordinary stature, but not to much above what was common as they have foncied, who describe giants as three or four times larger than men are at present. They were, say they, men famous for the violence which they committed, and for their crimes, rather than for their strength, or the greatness of their steares. of their stature.

of ineir stature. Its very probable, that the first men were all of a strength and stature much superior to those of mankind at present, since they lived a much a stre longer time; long life being commonly the effect of a strong and vigorous constitution. And that formerly there were men of a stature much above that of common men, cannot be demain a sour in any common men, canadi se di-nied, at least not without contradicting the holy Scriptures. The Israelites who traversed the Holy Land, told their bretten, that they had seen giants in this country of Anak's race, had seen giants in this country of Anax's race, who were so numeraturably large, that other men were but grashoppers in comparison to them, Num, 13, 33. Moses speaks of Og the king of Bashan's bed, which was nine cubits long, and four wide; that is, fifteen feet four inches and a half long, Deut 3, 11. Goliath was tis cubits and a span in height, that is to say, ten feet seven inches, 1 Sam. 17, 4. These torts of giants were still common in Joshua's and David's times, when the life of men was already so much shortened, and, at may be presumed, the size and strength of human bodies were very much diministhed. Besides the giants, mentioned in Scripture, several Historicius make mention of giants; at Ilerodotus, Diodorus Siculus, Plioy, Homer, Plutarch, 4c.

The Hebrews call the Gentiles by the general name of Goim, which signifies the nations that have not received the faith, or law of God. All who are not Jews, and circumcised, are comprised under the word Goim. Before Christ, the door to life and justification was opened to the world by the belief only and protession of the Jewish religion. Those who were concerted, and embraced Judaism, they called Proselytes. Since the preaching of the googel, the true religion is not confined to any one nation and country, only, as herciofore. God, who had promised by his prophets to call the Gentiles to the faith, with a nuperabundance of of grace, has executed this promise: So that the Christian church is composed of scarcely any other beside Gentile concerts; and the Jews, who were too proud of their particular privileges, for the most part have been abandout to their reproduct sense of things, and have discounted Jesus Christ their Messiah and Itedemen, for whom, for so many ages, they wished deemer, for whom, for so many ages, they wished disouned Jesus Christ their Messiah and Redeamer, for whom, for so many ages, they wished to impatiently.

The aposite Paul generally comprehends the Gentiles smeet the name of Greeks, Rom. 1. 16. Jew and Greek signify Jew and Gentile. See also Rom. 2. 9, 10. | 3. 9, | 10. 12. 1 Cor. 1. 22, 24. Gal. 3. 28. And St. Luke, in the Acts, expressed himself in the same manner, Acts 11. 20. | 18. 4. St. Paul is commonly called the Apostle of the Gentiles, or the Greeks, 1 Tim. 2. 7. because he was principally sent to idolarnous people, to preach Christ to them; interess St. Peter, and the other Apostles, preached more generally to the Jews; for which reason they are called the Apostles of the circumcision. Gal. 2. 7, The gospel of the uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the gospel of the circumcision was unto Peter. The old prophets declared in a very particular manner the calling of the Gentiles. Jacob foretold, that when Shiloh, or the Messiah thould come, to him should the gathering of the people be; that is, the Gentiles should yield obedience to Christ, and acknowledge him for their Lord and Saviour. And how sincerely and heartily the ancient and godly Jews desired, the conversion of the Gentiles, may appear from the prayer which Solomon addresses to God, n the New Testament we see the Gentiles came sometimes to Jerusalem to workip Ood there. Some of these arriving there a little before the death of our Saviour, addressed themselves to Philip, desiring him to shaw than Jesus, John 12. 20. 4c. Philip told Andrew, and both of them informed Jesus; who answered them, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified; that is, Do the Gentiles seek me! why, the time approaches wherein I shall be glorified by their concersion, and earning of me; but I must die first, like a grain of corn, and from thence will spring up a plentiful croy among the Gentiles. GENEALOGY omes from the Greek word Genealogia, which signifies a list of our ancestors, a description of the stock, lineage, or pedigree of any person or family. The common Hebrew aspression for it is Sepher toledoth, Liber generationis. The Hebrews were very careful in greenving their management and archaect their management. is Sepher toledoth, Liber generationis. The Ilobrews were very careful in preserving their greealogies; and perhaps there mear was any nation more circumspect in this point than that of the lown. At this day we find genealogies in their sacred writings, carried on for above three thomand five hundred years; and in the Emangelists we have the genealogy of Jesus Christ deduced for four thomand wears, from Adam to Joseph of Mary, Inde 3, 23, &c. The Jews were very exact in their genealogies, parely from their own choice and interest, that they might preserve the distinctions of the several tribes and families, which was necessary both to make out their claims or titles to office or inheritances, which might belong to them by death, or othersitie; and to govern themselves thereby in the matter of marriages, and some other things, wherein the yractice of some laws required the knowledge of these things: It is observed in Extra 2. 62, that such priests awere not able to preduce an exact genealogy of their families, were not permitted to exercise their function: This their exactness was likewise ordered by the special previousne of the succession of priests for two thousand years. He adds, that the priests were particularly careful to preserve their genealogies, and that not only in Judea, but also in Babylon and Egypt: and wherever they were, they never marmed below themselves, and had cract genealogical tables prepared from the anti-entic m-numents which were kept at 200.

had cract genealogical tables prepared from those anthentic monuments which were kept at 200

Jerom says, that the Jews are so versed in the reading of their books, and know so perfectly the genealogies, which are there set forth, that they can repeat all the names from Abraham to Zerubbabel, as easily as they can pronounce their own. St. Paul seems to condemn the affectation of knowing old genealogies: he looks affectation of knowing old genealogies: he looks upon them to be useless and vain, as in reality they are, when they serve only for ortentation, and not for edification: This study was of great was before the Messish came, that it might be known distinctly of what tribe and family he was born; but he being come, this study is tain, though still the Jews are addicted to it. The reason wherey in some particulars very: The reason wherey is assigned by Dr. Priceaux in these terms: "For the true settling of these genealogies," says he, "search was made by Nehemiah for says he, "search was made by Nohemiah for the old registers, and having among them found the register of the genealogies of those, who came up at first from Babylon with Zerubbabel and Joshua; he settled this metter according to it, adding such as a ferwards came up, and expunging others, whose families was extinguished: und this hath caused the difference that is between the accounts which we have of these genealogies in Exra and Niehmiah. For in the second chapter of Exra, we have the old register made by Zerubbabel; and in the secreth of Nehemiah, from the sixth purse, we have a copy of it, as babel; ama in the secrets of renemian, from the sixth verse, we have a copy of it, as settled by Nehemiah, with the alterations that are now mentioned." GENERATION.

This word is used for the history and genealogy of any man. For example: This is the book of the generations of Adam, Gen. 5. 1. This is the history of Adam's creation, and that of his posterity. These are the generations of the heavens and of the earth, Gen. 2. 4. This is a rectiful of the creation of heaven and earth. And in Mat. 1. 1, The book of the generation of Jesus Christ, the Son of David. This is the genealogy of Jesus Christ, and the history of his life, death, and resurrection. It is likewise taken for wetching or workers or secole who live in some one are genealegy of Jesus Christ, and the history of his Itife, death, and resurrection. It is likewise taken for persons or people who live in some one age. Heb. 3. 10, I was grieved with that generation; with those men that came out of Egypt, and rebelled against me in the wildstreass. Mat. 24. 34, This generation shall not pass, till all those things be fulfilled. All who are as present living, shall not be dead, when this shall come to pass. There are some at this day living, who shall be witnesses of the will which I have joretold shall be fall the Jews. The men of this generation, the men who are now alway, Lake 11. 31. New word gate is likewise sometimes put to signify power or dominion. God promises Abraham, thus his posterity should possess the gates of shas his posterity should possess the gates of their enemies, their towns, their fortesses, Gen. 22. 17. They should conjugate them, they should have dominion over them. The gates of hell shall not pravail against the church, Mat. 16. 18. that is, meither the penser nor policy of the devil and his instruments. For the gates of cities were the places both of you indiction or judicature, and of fortification and chief strength in mar, July, 5. 8. Psal. 147. 13. The gates of brass, are the strengest helps and defences. Psal. 107. 16, He has broken the gates of brass; he restored them to tiberty, in spite of all impedients and oppositions. The strait gate signifies regeneration and conversion, and true holiness in heart and life, which prepare the own for heaves.

action and conversion, and true holiness in heart and life, which prepare the soul for heaven. Blaz. 7. 13. Enter ye in at the strait gate. he gates of death are the brink, or mouth of the grave. Psal. 9. 13. Thou that liftest me up from the gates of death, that pracerodat me when I was, as is were, dropping into the grave. And king Hemeklah, having received a message of death, represents in his Apam the condition he had been in when he was sick, and expresses himself thus: I said, I shall go to the gates of the grave; I perceive I must die, without any hopes of presention, Isa. 38. 10. The Hebrews looked upon death, or the grave, as a place, has a seen in mean in a seed of the grave; I perceive I must die, without any hopes of prevention, Isa. 38.10. Without any hopes of prevention, Isa. 38.10. Whe there are hopes death, or the grave, as a place, whicher people oams from all parts of the moried, ohere to enter upon amother life. The gates of righteousness, Peal. 118. 19. are those of the Lord; the true luxuel-coints, the priests of the Lord, the true luxuel-ties, paid their was and praises to the Lord; where nome were to enter but purified Israellies, a nation of registeous men. The gates or everither the gates of the temple, which by faith and the sprint of prophecy David beheld as already built; these gates he bids life up their heads, to receive the glorious King Jehovah, who dwalt in the temple, and between the cherubian; Or the passage may admit of a mystical couss; for as the temple was a type of Christ, and of his church, and of heaven uself; so this place may also contain a representation, either of Christ's entisance into his church, or into the hearst of his faithful people, who are here commended to set open their hearts or doule for his reception: Or, it may expresser his ascention into heaven, where the soiste or angels are possically instruduced as proparing the way, and mystic triumph and glory.

Esck.13.5.ye have not gone up into the g.for Israel GARDEN

Asser. 13.5. ye have not gone up into the g. for Israel GARDEN

Is a plot of ground furnished with plants, flowers, the Gen. 2. 15. The church is resembled to a garden, Cant. 4. 12. | 5. 1. As a garden is taken out of the common waste ground to be appropriated to a more particular use, so the church of Christ is chosen from among the rest of the world to a particular use. In a garden nothing that is good comes up naturally of sitelf, but as it is planted and set; so mothing is good in the heart, but what is planted and set by the heavenly Illubandman. In a garden nothing uses to be planted, which what is useful and delightful; so there is no grace in the heart of a Christian but what is useful and delightful; so in the are variety of flowers and spices; so in a Christian there is tomewhat of every grace. As men delight much in their gardens, to walk there and take their pleasure, and take care to frace, week, water, and plant them; so Christ's case and delight; to his them? fence, weed, water, and plant them; so Christ's care and delight is for his church. As gardens care and actigat is for not construct. In gardens were to have frontiating and streams running through them, as Paradise had four streams which ran through it; so the church is Chistis Paradise, and his Spirit is a spring in the midst of it, to refresh the souls of believers. A warden streams along in media of meeting and the streams of meeting in media of meeting. which ran introgen it; so inconsists to consist Peradise, and his Spirit is a spring in the midtt of it, to refresh the souls of believering and crease always in need of weeding and dressing; so in the hearts of Christians, Christ hath always somewhat to do, they would also soon be overgrown and surn wild. The grophet Isaiah upbraids the Jews with the appointmentations and acts of idelating which they committed in their gardens. Ye shall be confounded for the gardens which ye have chosen, Isa. 1. 29. These gardens were either consecrated to idelat, or were such as the heathers worshipped idels in; there they sacrificed, las. 05. 3. efter which they thought that they were well purified, when they have chought in the water, Isa. 66. 17.

Is that wherewith one is clothed. Mat. 27. 35, They parted my garments. By the welding-garment is meant Christ with his perfect righte-oursess imputed, which as a garment doth hide the spiritual nakedness, and decks and adorn the soul with spiritual beauty. Mat. 22. 11. the spiritual maceases; an access the acords the soul with spiritual beauty. Mat, 22. 11. Some by wedding-garments understand the grace of senetification, or a holy life, autoreathe to one's profession; in which sense garment is taken in Rev. 3. 4, Thou hast a few names in Sardis which have not defiled their garment; who are of unblamable lives. He was clothed with a garment down to his foot, Rev. 1. 13. Some are of opinion that this denoted the purity and innocency of that priesthood, which Christ did sercies for his charch: Others, that it denoted the dignity and majesty of Christ, as King of his church: it being usual for kings to wear long robes in token of majesty. Garments rolled or dyed in blood, Isa. 9, 5, 163. 2. are garments spinkled and stained with the blood of the slain, such as warriors wear, which have overcome their enemies in battle. battle.

GATE. GATE

Carre of ATE

Is the entronce into a house or city. Judg. 16. 3, Samson took the doors of the gate of the city.
The word gate is often used in scripsure to denote the place of public assemblies, where justices was administered. One particular form of these judgments is to be seen in that, which was given at the gate of Beth-lebem, between Boaz and another person, a relation of Naomi's, upon the subject of Ruth's merriage, who was a Moabitess, Ruth 4. 1. And in Abshams purchase of a field to bury Sarah, Gen. 23. 10, 18. Jerom says, that as the Jews wern for the most part employed in labouring in the field, it was wisely provided, that assemblies should be held at the city gates, and justice administered there in a summare manual, that those laboursum men, who were bury at their work, might lose no time, and that the count

GAIL.

Is a bitter juice, one of the kumours in the body of a man and beast. It is put for any thing that is bitter and pernicious. Job 20. 14, Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gai of saps within him: It will be very painful and destructive to him at last. Pal. 69, 21, They gave me gall for my meat; or poison, or bitter herbs. St. Matthew say, that they gave our Saviour vinegar to drink mingled with gall. Mat. 27. 34. St. Mark calls it wine mingled with myrrh, Mark 15. 23. It is generally thought that the gall and myrrh itignify but one and the same thing, that it, something that was very bitter. It is said to have been an ordinary ension to give dying persons some intoricating potion, to make them less sensible of their pain. To give water of gall to drink, devotes some very bitter affiction, Jer. 8. 14. Their grapes are grapes of gall, Deut. 32. 32. Their fraits, or actions, are displeasing to God, malicious and mischievens to others, and will at last be pernicious to themselves. A root that beareth gall. Deut. 39. displeasing to God, malicious and mischievens to others, and will at last be pernicious to themselves. A root that beareh gall, Deut. 29, 18. may demot some secret and subite teleters, who might secretly infect and poison others, who might secretly infect and poison others, by drawing them to idolatry; which will produce bitter fruits, how pleasant sovers it may be for the present. To be in the gall of bitterness, and bond of iniquity, is to be in a state of great impliety, to be under the power of an and corruption, of hypocrity and ambition. It is put for great affiction, 100 1C. 13. For wrong, injustice, Amos 6. 12. Deut. 29, 18. lest there should be a root that bear. g. 32.32. their grapes are grapes of g. clusters bitter full; rivers are full of waters, our immers more full. (3) The saints cannot communicate their graces to others; whereas the gifts of the Spirit be in Christ as an head and fountain, to impart them to his members. John 1. 16, We have received of his fulness. It is taid, Col. 2. 9, That the fulness of the Godhead dwells in Christ bodily; ther is, The whole nature and attributes of God are in Christ, and that really, essentially, or substantially, and also personally, by nevertunion, as the soul dwells in the body, so that the same person who is man, is God also. The church is called the fulness of Christ, Eph. 1. 23. It is the church which makes him a complete and perfect Head, and without which he would account himself but empty and mained, as it were; for though he has a natural and personal fulness, as God; yet as Mediator, he is not full and complete without his mystical body, (as a king is not complete without his subjects) but receives an ontward relative and mystical fulness from his members. And then the church dear menifest and set forth his fulness, serving as an empty vessel for him to full and to taken his fulness in; and this he does, by bringing enery member to his full stature; by dispersing all variety of gifts and graces among them; and by bringing them all to heaven at last, so that not one shall be weating. How much more their fulness? Rom. 11, 12. If the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gastiles; how much more their fulness? How I full stature; by dispersing all variety of gifts and graces among them; and by bringing them all to heaven at last, so that not one shall be weating. How much more their fulness? How I full stature is people, through their rejecting the guyel, and the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gastiles; how much more their fulness? For the world.

much divided whether the use of frontlets, and other phylacteries, was orderized by Moses, as an observance to which the Jews were obliged, and such as required a literal compliance, so that the Hebrews have at all times worn them; or have been obliged to wear them.

They who believe the use of them to be rigorously binding, ground their persuasion on the test of Moses, which speaks of it in a positive manner, as of other precepts of the law; he requires that the commandments of God should be for a sign on their hands, and as frontlets between their eyes, Deut. 6, 8.

that the commanuments of a sign on their hands, and as frontlets between their eyes, Deut. 6. 8.

But the generality of interpreters on the contrary maintain, that the precepts of Moses which mention their writings on the doors, the signs upon their hands, and frondlets between their eyes, should be taken in a figurative and allegorical sense; as meaning that they should be very careful to preserve the remembrance of God's law, and observe his commands; that they should always have them before them, and mover forget them. It is certain that before the Babyloniah capitity, not the least footsteps of them were to be seen in the history of the Dews. Is taken for one whom we love and esteem above others, to whom we impart our minds more familiarly than to others; and that from a confidence of his integrity, and good will towards us; thus Jonathan and David were mutually friends. Solonon in his book of Proverbagices the qualities of a true friend. Prov. 17.
17. A friend loveth at all times; not only in prosperity, but also in adversing. Chap. 18. 24, There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother. he is more hearty in the verformance presperity, but also in asterity. Chap. 10. 28, There is a friend that sticket closer than a brother; he is more hearty in the performance of all friendly offices. He reproves and reshuke when he sees any thing amiss. Prov. 27. 6, Faithful are the wounds of a friend; his therp-est reproofs proceed from an upright, and truly loving and faithful soul. He is known by his good and faithful counsel, as well as by his faithful rebukes. Prov. 27. 9, Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart: so doth the sweetness of a man's friend by hearty counsel; by such consula as comes from his very heart and soul, and is the language of his most inward and serious thoughts. The company and conversation of a friend is refreshing and reviving a person, who, when alone, is sad, and duff, and unactive. Prov. 27. 17, Iron sharpeneth hiron, so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

and unactive. Prov. 97. 17, Iron sharpenelling, so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

By friend is meant also the favourite of a prince. Hushai was the friend, the favourite of David. 2 Sam. 15. 37, Zebud, the son of Nathan was Solomon's friend. 1 Kings 4. 5. And Abuzzath was the perticular friend of Abimelech king of Gerar, Gen. 20. 20.

The friend of God. This title is principally given to Abraham, as in 2 Chron. 20. 7. Art not thou our God, who gavest this land to the seed of Abraham the friend of The apostle James likewise makes mention of this, Jam. 2. 23, And the scripture was fulfilled, which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness; and he was called the friend of God. This title is given him not only because God frequently appeared to him, conversed familiarly with him, and revealed secrets to Aim, Gen. 18. 17, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do? But also because he entered into a covenant of perpetual friendship, both with him and his seed, Gen 12. 2, 3, 17. 2, 4, 7. and especially because he reward the entered into a covenant of perpetual friendship, both with him and his seed, Gen 12. 2, 3, 17. 2, 4, 7. and especially because he reward the coormant with him, upon the careficing of his son Isaac, and confirmed it by an oath, and thereby admitted him to a nearer degree of friendship and communious, Gen. 22. 16, 17. &c. And it is upon this trial of Abraham sobedience, namely, the offering up of his son, that the apostle lames quotes the pastage, where all the reason of it, for all things I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you. As men used to communicate their counsels and their whole mind to their friends, ergonalis of any soncern, or may be of any advantage for them to know and understand; so I have rescaled to you whatever is necessary for your instruction, office, comfort, and saltation. And this title is not peculiar to the apostles only, but is common with them to all true believers, Cant. 5. 1, Eat, O friends.

The friend o

The friend of the bridegroom, is the bride-man; he who does the however of the wedding, and leads his friend's spours to the muptial bed. John the Baptist, with respect to Christ, and his church, was the friend of the Bridegroom; by his preuching he prepared the people of the Jews for Christ, John 3. 29.
Friend is a word of ordinary salutation, whether to friend, or fue. He is called friend who had not on a wedding-germent, Mat. 22. 12. And our Saviour calls Judas the traitor, friend, Mat. 26. 50. Some are of opinion that this tille is given to the guest by an irony or antiphrases, meaning the contrary to what the word importeth; or that he is called so, because he appeared to others to be Christ's friend, or was so in his own esseem and account, though falsely, being an hypocrite. However, this being spoken in the person of him whimade the feast, it is generally taken for an unual compellatien; and that Christ following the like courteous custom of appellation, and friendly greating, did so enluted Judan, which yet left a sting behind it in his councience, who knew himself to be the reverse of what he was called. The name of friend is likewise given to a neighbour. Luke 11.5, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say, friend, lend me three loaves?

In Greek, Alopex, in Hebrew, Shual: It is a creature very well known, and very remarkable, principally for its cunning. There is mention made of it in several places of the Seripture. Our Sevieur calls Herod the Tetrarch of Golillee, fox, signifying thereby his craft, and the reintments of his policy, Luke 13. 32. And to give an idea of his own extreme powerty, he says, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head, Luke 9. 58. Exchiel compares the false prophets with foxes. Exek. 13. 4. Thy prophets are like the foxes in the deserts: whether it was his design to heighten their conving and hypocrisy in imitating the true prophets, and so covering themselves the three prophets, and so covering themselves that these false prophets, instead of reporting Jerusalem, endeavoured only to destroy it, by undermining its walls, and shaking its foundations, as foxes undermine the ground to make holes for themselves. In the same sense, reducers and false teachers are compared to foxes. Cant. 2. 15, Take us the foxes that spoil the vines. spoil the vines.

FOUNTAIN
It propers to purpose head of maters.

Chron. 24, 427. concerning Joash f. the house FOUNTAIN
Is properly the source or spring-head of waters. Metaphorically, God is called the fountain of living waters, Jer. 2, 13. Springs or fountains are celled living, when they never cease, or rusermit, but are always sending forth their maters: Such had God's care and kindness been over and to the Jews, of whom he complesses. That they had forsaken him, the featutain of living waters. The blood of Christ, which washes believers from all nucleanues of sin, is called a fountain. Zech. 13, 1, In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jernslem, for sin and uncleanness. The tegal washings were but shadows and types of this matchless healing and purging Frontain, mamely, the blood of Christ, which were failed to heal any that ever used it. All sprinned spaces and refreshments communicated by the Spirit, are also compared to a fountain. Joel 3. 18, A fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim. As waters are of a cooling, retesting, and fractiving nature, to these vifesting and greeting and fractiving nature. house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shirtim. As unters are of a cooling, re-jeshing, and fractifying nature, so these gifts and graces shauld make the most betten to become fraitful. And in John 7.38, Ile that believeth on me, out of his belty shall flow rivers of living water. He shall be endued with the gifts and graces of the Spirit in a pleasiful measure, which shall not only refresh himself, but shall be called himself, but shall break forth, and be communicated to attent, also for their refreshine. of Shittim. cated to others, also for their refreshing. ountains are taken for children, or posterity, Prov. 5. 16, Let thy fountains be dispersed abroad:

contains are learn for children, or posterity, Prov. 5. 16, Let thy fountains be dispersed abroad: I May your posterity be numerous. In this yearseg fountains are just for streams or rivers fewing from them, by a metonymy of the cause for the effect. In the same sense it is used in Deat. 33.28, The fountain of Jacob shall be upon a land of corn and wine: that is, the people that proceed from Jacob. The title of fountains may be the more fifty given to children, because a they are rivers on respect of their parents, so when they grow mp, they also become fromtains to their children. In Interpret 18, fountain is put for a wife. Let thy fountain be blessed. Let thy wife be blessed with children, barrenarce sheing esteemed a curse and reproach among the larachites; or, let her be a blessing and comfert to thee, and not a curse and a snare, as an harlet will be: or, let her be made happy by the enjoyment of thy society, and cleaving to her alone.

Solomon say, Prov. 13. 14, The law of the wise is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death; that is, the doctrine, instruction, or counsel of a holy pious man, is a means to peasore life, and to help men to depart from the snares of death. By spring and fountain in Hoa. 13. 15, are meant a prosperous condition, and all blessings which seemed to be for a continuance; His spring shall become dry, and his fountain shall be dried up. Fountain is taken for the right ventricle of the heart, which is the spring of life, and of the vital spirits. Eccl. 12, 6, Or the pitcher be broken at the fountain: This may be said, when the weins do not return the blood to the heart, but suffer it to stand still and cool within them, whence comes that coldness of the entword parts, which is a near forerowner of death. Fountain of blood, is the blood of a person incommoded with a loss of blood, whether natural or otherwise, Lev. 20, 18. Mark 5. 29.

S the ground-work, or lowest part of a building, which supports the other parts; as the foundation of an house, of a castle, of a fort, tower, cc. Christ Jesus, both in the Old and New Testament, is called a Foundation. Isa. 28.16, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a stone, s the ground-work, or lowest parts of a building, which supports the other parts; as the foundation of an house, of a castle, of a fort, tower, the Christ Jesus, both in the Old and New Items, is called a Foundation, Lia. 28.16, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a stone, a tried stone, a precious curner-stone, a sure foundation. Christ is the foundation on which I Tim. 6. 19. laying up in store for thems, a good five church is built; the foundation on which I Tim. 6. 19. laying up in store for thems, a good for face made with the church, and of all the hopes, and comfort, and happinens, of the people of God; the foundation of the Covenant of Grace made with the church, and of all the power which there is, he is a sure foundation, on whom his people may securely rest; jow who will not fail them, nor deceive them; and he is the corner-stone that unites the several who will not fail them, nor deceive them; and he is the corner-stone that unites the several series, that ence were implacable enamies, and Gentiles, that ence were implacable enamies.

FOUNDATION of the world were discovered, of the world which is Jesus Christ, and the above mentioned passage in leain is cited by St. Peter, and applied to Christ, 1 Pete. 2.6.

and prophets: Your faith is grounded upon the doctrine delivered by them. Foundation is likewise taken for the first principles of Chritianity, tenght in an easy and plain method, as to make people of mean capacities to under them; such as concerning the necessity and new of repensance and fath; the natural institution, signification, and use of the secrement; concerning the last independ, and the like; these the apostle calls the foundation. Held 6.1, 2, Not laying again the foundation of repensance, &c. And in Rom. 15.20, 7th apostle says, So have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest should build upon another man's foundation. I did not choose to preach the geopel, where it fundamentals, the first principles of religion had been taught by another, lest I thould seen to estume to myself the credit due to him. Heaven, which is the esternal inheritance of all believers, is described as a city which hath foundations, to denote that the state of the elect in heaven, and their glory there, it not sudject to corruption, or the least alteration. Held 11. 10, Abraham looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builders and maker i God.

God. Magistrates are also called foundations. Peai 82. 5. All the foundations of the world are out of course: All magistrates, rulers, and go vernors, that should settle and establish justice and order, have disturbed it by their irregula and disorderly precedings. The aportle Paul, edicating Timothy of what should come to pass in the latter times, says, 2 Tim. 3. 5, That there should be men who had a form of goilliness, but deny the power thereof: They should have an entired appearance and them of religion, pretend to a right way of worshipping God; to be the church, the only church of God; and yet not only be destitued of, but reject and rejuse the inner part, which is lively, active, and powerful to make a thorough chance.

is lively, active, and powerful to make a thorough change.

It is said, Mark 16. 12, that after his resurrection, Jesus appeared in another form to two of his disciples: Another form cither in regard of his habit, or brightness of his countenance, or some such particular. And the apostle speaking of Christ, says, Phil. 2. 6, Who being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: that is, Who being the sessential image of the Father, and enjoying the stsential image of the Father, and enjoying the divine essence and nature, with all its glory, knew that it was no unspation in him, to account himself agnal with the Father, and carry himself upon all occasions as such 36 by the form of God is meant his assence and nature. It follows in verse 7, But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servaint, and was made in the likeness of men. Yet he emptied himself of that divine glory and majesty, by hiding it in the rail of his fleth; and took upon him the quality and condition of a mean person, not of a glorified saint, or of some great mortal; and was rubject to all the frailties and infernities of human nature, sin only excepted.

Signifies, [1] To let things slip out of the memory. Deut. 4. 9, Lest thou forget the things thine eyes have seen. [2] To let God, her word, and benefit, slip out of mind: whereupon follow disobedience, neglect of God's worship, and winded crutempt of God, as a fruit and konsequence of such forectfulness. Judg. 3. 7, The children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord, and forgat the Lord their God, and served Baalim and the groves: Thus men forgat God; the wicked wholly, the godly in part. [3] To cast off one, to cause to love, care, and provide for him. Psal. 77. 9, Hath God forgotten to be gracious? Thus God forgets the wicked: and the godly do sometimes think that thay are thus forgotten, yet are not so. See also Isa. 49. 15, Can a woman forget her sucking child? yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee. She may cause to love her child, but I will not cause to love and provide for the. [4] To comit to praish Amos 8. 7, Surely I will never forget and them of the sucking child? yea, they may forgotten. [5] Not to esteem, but to past over a matter as souverthy our semembrance. Phil. 3. 13, Forgetting those things which are emitted as the sure of years or segarding what I have already done, as what I have yet further to do.

Joseph called the name of his first-born, Manasseh, sheeph called the name of his first-born, Manasseh, that is, forgetting; for God, said he, hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's house: me forget all my toil, and all my father's house: he has espelled all sortouful remembrance of my slavery in Egypt, and of my suffering from my brethren, by my present comfort and glory In Paal. 45. 10, the Paalmist speaking to the church says, Forget also thine own people, and thy father's house: He alludes to the law of matrimony, Gen. 2. 24. Thom must forget and fortake all carnel relations, to far as they hinder from Christ, and likewise all those prejudices, false permasiens, corrupt inclinations, and evil practices, which are so natural to, and even part of thyself, Mat. 5. 29, 30. And by these words he seems tacitly to forest, that even the legal worthip appearated by Moses, and FOO

The motwithstending these precautions, there are many places which have no water; and in the course of the year, the places which are nearest so the Nile, require to be watered again in artificial menner. It is done by the help of some machines, which Philo describes thus. It is a wheel which a man morne with the motion of his feet, by ascending successively the several steps which are within it. But as while he is that continually turning, he cannot keep himself up, he holds a step in his hards which is not moveable, and this supports him; so that in this work, the hands do the effice of the feet, and the feet hat of the hands: since the hands which should act, are at rest; and the feet hat of the hands: since the hands which should act, are at rest; and the feet which should be at vest, are in action, and give motion to the wheel. This is what is meant by watering the earth with their feet.

It is said, in Jer. 2. 25, Withhold thy foot from being unshod, and thy throat from thirst.

Amendment Amendm from being unshod, and thy throat from summer.

to Laban, Gen. 30.+ 30. The Lord hath blessed to goe is since my feet entered into thy house: Or, by my foot; that is, by my ministry and labour, as the phrase is used, Deut. 11. 10.

To be under any one's feet, to be a footstool to him, is a figurative way of speaking, to signify the subjection of a subject to his sovereign, of a servent to his master. Peal. 8. 6, [18. 36, [10. 1]. Thou hast put all things under his feet. Mine enemies are fallen under my feet. feet. Mine enemies are fallen under my fret. Sit thon at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. To lick the dust off one's feet, Isa. 49, 23. They shall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, allick up the dust of thy feet. They shall highly reverence and honour thee, and shall most verence and honour thee, and shall most unbly and readily submit themselves unto thee. humbly and readily submit themselves unto thee. The expressions are borrowed from the practice of the eastern people in their prostrations and adarations, when they boxed so low as to touch and hise the ground, whereby they did or might seem to lick up the very dust of the ground, which was about or under the feet of thuse whom they

Makdness of feet was a sign of mourning: Forbear to cry, sept God to Exckiel, make no mourning for the dead, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, Each. 24. 17. It was also a mark of respect, reverence, and adoration, Exod. 3.5.
Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place where thou standest is holy ground.
To wash one's foot with oil, or with butter, signifies planty of all torts of good things. Deut. no was once soot with on, or with other, sig-nifies planty of all sorts of good things. Deut. 33, 24, Job 29, 6. To wash one's feet in the blood of sinners; to take remarkable vengeance on them, to shed rivers of their blood, Psal. 58, 10.

wicked man speaketh with his feet, says Solomon Prov. 6. 13. He uses much gesture with his hands and feet while he is talking; he secretly signifies to his companions his intentious or designifies to his companions has intentions or ac-sirce of some evil towards another person, which he is afraid, or athamed to express openly. The ancient Sages blamed those who used too much cetticulation, and spoke with all their members. Exchiel reproaches the Ammonites with clap-ping their hands, and stomping with their feet su token of joy, upon seeing the devolution of Jerusalem and the temple, Ezek. 25. 6. And in chap. 6. 11. he makes the same motions the in chap. 6. 11. he makes the same motions the strust of grief, because of the ruin of his people. The prophet Isalah says, Blessed are ye that sow beside all waters, that send forth thither the feet of the ux and the ass, Iss. 32. 20. Happy are the people that sow their corn whom a well-watered soil, who with their oren and asses plown a feet and fruisful land; or who feed there their oren and their asses. To send out their seet, that is, to send them there, to feed them, to pless there with them. But this passage may be understood mystically, and seems to respect

FOOT

Is a part of the body well known. In old times it was customary to wash the feet of strangers upon their coming off a journey, Gen. 18. 4. 19. 2. | 24. 32. because generally they were barefoot, or wore sandals only, which did not secure them from the dust or dirt. St. Paul enjoins enquiry to be made, whether the widoms who were to be taken into the number of those who were to be taken into the number of those who were so be meaintained by the church, had washed the feet of the saints; waster they had bean ready to do the meanust offices to the washed the teet of the saints; mather they had been ready to do the meenset offices to the servants of God, 1 Tim. 5. 10. Christ Jesus, to give us an example of humility, wethed the feet of his Joselles; and thereby tanget them to perform all the must humble services for one mather. I had 18. 6.

to give us an esample of hamility, weshed the feet of his spossies; and thereby taught them to perform all the must humble services for one another, John 13. 5.

Feet, in the style of the sacred Writers, often mean inclinations, affections, propensities, actions, mations. Eccl. 5. 1, keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God. Psal. 36. 11, Let not the foot of pride come against me. And in Psal. 119, 59, 1 turned my feet unto thy testimonies. Also in Eph. 6. 15, And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. To be at any one's feet, is used for obeying, being in his service, following him. Abigait tells David, that the presents which the brought him, were for the young men that walked at his feet; for the soldiers who followed him, 1 Sam. 25. 427. Moses says, Deut. 33, 3. that the Lord loved his people, and they sat down at his feet: Like scholars, they heard him, they befored instructed in his dectrine. St. Paul says, that he was brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, deus 22, 3. And Mary sat at our Seviour's feet, and heard his word, Luke 10. 39.

In Deut. 11. 10. it is said, that the land of Canaan is not like the land of Egypt, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wateredst it with thy foot; that is, that Palestine is a country where the rains are not extremely rare, where the dews are plentiful, whate there are many springs, risudets, and brooks, without reckoning the river Jordan, which supply the earth with river, continue parched, end barren. To rupply this want, dirches are dug, and water distributed throughout the several villages; the diguity this want, dirches are dug, and water distributed throughout the several villages; the diguity creates a great deal of fahrer to the feet.

FOOL, Foolishness, are to be understood not only according to their natural and literal meaning, for one who is an idiot, or a very weak man, and for the discourses and notions of foolis the namen; but in the language of seripture, especially in the book of Proverbs, foolis the usual character of the simer, and foolishness are put for sin. Ptal. 38. 5, My wounds stink, and are corrupt, because of my foolishness, my sin. Ind in Psal. 69. 5, O God, thou knowest my foolishness. Solomon sets the fool in opposition to the prudent man. Prov. 13. 16, Every prudent man dealeth with knowledge; but a fool layeth open his folly. For as by prudence a man se governs himself, and regulates his actions, as to avoid impending evils, and to obtain that good which is suitable to his necessities: so it is the effect of folly, not to force evils to provent them, and to neglect the seasom of obtaining what is good.

Prov. 13, 20, Solomon opposes the fool to the wise man. He that walketh with wise men.

and to neglect the season of constituing what is good.

In Prov. 13, 20, Solomon opposes the fool to the wise man. He that walketh with wise men, shall be wise; but a companion of fools shall be destroyed. As it is with relation to the affairs of this life; the man of prudence and conduct in his affairs, who takes the best method of managing things to his own, his family, and friend's, or any occiety's reputation, comfort, and advantage, and who minds his business more than his pleasure, is the wise man: And the inconsiderate, heedless, slothful man, who neglects the principal afairs of life, or goot into improper or unlikely methods of managing them to advantage, or the minds his pleasure more than his business; is the fool for this world; So it is with respect to another world, the truly wise man is he who proposes the thing.

FLOOD.

Not only that terrible inundation is in scripture called flood, whereby God destroyed all mentioned, and all the animals of the earth and air, which were not in the ark built by Noah; but likewise all sorts of inundations or extraordinary collections of water. Thus the Psalmist speaking of the the more flood. Psal. 66. 6, They went through the flood on foot. The same Psalmist set. waters of the sea, or of a river, expresses it hy the word flood. Pieal. 66. 6, They went through the flood on foot. The same I salmist sete forth extreme dangers under the notion of a flood. Pieal. 69, 15, Let not the water-flood overflow me. And the violent estimatis and wadden incursions of the devid and his instruments against the church are compared to a flood. In. 59, 19, When the enemy shall come in like a flood. By floods are also signified great plenty and absendance of spiritual and temporal blessings. Lie. 44.5, I will pour floods upon the dry ground.

Gal. 3. 4, Are ye now made perfect by the flesh? that is, by works, and the cernal ceremonies of the law. (11) For the whole nature of man, as it cometh into the world. corrupt, vile, and infected with sin, Rom. 7.5. corrupt, vite, and injected with isin, 180m. 7.0.

[8.8, When we were in the fissh. They that are in the fissh; that is, in a carnal, corrupt state; such cannot please God, namely, while they continue so, and till they be converted. Likewise in all other places, where the word fissh is applied to more wavegenerated, it signifies the whole corruption and depravity of our nature, raging and reigning both in the understanding and will. But in those places of scripture, where fissh is attributed to persons that are converted, and is set in opposition to the Spirit, it signifies the remainder of natural corruption, even so much of that vicious quality of sin, as is still numerified in regenerated persons. See Rom. 7. 18, 25. Gal. 5. 17, 23. To be one fiesh, denotes a most inseparable union, and an intimate communion, as if the two were but one person or one body. Gen. 2. 26, And they shall be one fiesh. This phrase is used and an intimate communion, as if the two were out one person or one body. Gen. 2. 24, And they shall be one flesh. This phrase is used by the Apostle to show the union and communion that is between Christ and believers, Eph. 5. 30, 31. Flesh also signifies the human nature of Christ. Ileb. 10. 20, Through the vail, that is to say, his flesh. It is called flesh, because is was subject to rinless weaknesses and informities, and whereby his divine nature would and converted over: good as the of 5. 30, 31. Fiesh also signifies the name name rare of Christ. Ilsh. 10. 20, Through the vail, that is to say, his flesh. It is called flesh, because it was subject to rinless weatnesses and informities, and shereby his divine nature was reiled and covered over; soon at the ark of the concurant, the mercy-seat, and the most holy place, were by the vail. The flesh of Christ is find, and the most holy place, were by the vail. The flesh of Christ is infights whole Christ, both God and Man in one person. John 6. 55, My flesh is meat indeed, that is, I myself, with all my benefits heing received and applied by faith. An heart of flesh denotes a tender, tractable temper and disposition of soul, Ezek. 36. 26. Flesh is also taken for the outward appearance. John 8. 15, Ve judge after the flesh.

Flesh is noderstood different ways, at, (1) Forthe flesh which is the metter of bodies, whether of men or enimals, Lev. 13. 10. Num. 11. 33 (2) For living men, and seen all enimals is come before me: I am resolved to destroy every thing that hath life; Gen. 7. 15, 16, They went in two and two of all flesh, that is, animals of all species. (3) Flesh is taken for a relation, one of the same stack or hindred, Gen.
37. 27, Let not our hand be upon him, for he is our flesh, he is our flesh, he is on Fester. And in 2 San 19. 12, 13, Ye are my bones and my flesh mals of all species. (3) Flesh is taken for a relation, one of the same stack or hindred, Gen. 37. 27. Let not our hand be upon him, for he is our flesh, he is our brether. And in 2 Sam 19. 12, 13, Ye are my bones and my flesh Art thou not of my bone, and of my flesh Art thou not of my bone, and of my flesh our every man who is of the seme nature with ourselves, and where we may contemplate our own flesh: In this latitude it is taken in 1sa. 58. 7, And that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh; from thy neighbour, from any one of thine own nature, to whom then hait an opportunity of doing good. (5) for maniful, craitedered as impetent and facile, unable to help either himself or others, Jer. 17. 5, Cursed is the man that maketh flesh his arm; that depends upon any human power for help. (6) for for the quality of corruption, which is mot sinful, but the effect of sin, to which our bodies are subject in this tife. 1 Cor. 15. 50, Flesh and blood cannot inherit the hingdom of God; that is, our frail corruptible bodies cannot come to heaven: That which shall inherit heaven must he as incorrupt flesh, a body without corruption. (1) For the estate of this present life. Phil. 1. 24, To abide in the flesh is more needful for (7) For the estate of this present life. Phil. 1. 24, To abide in the flesh is more needful for you. (8) For that which is according to the ordinary course of nature. Gal. 4. 23, He who was of the bood-woman, was born after the flesh. Ishmael was born after the manner of other men, by the mere and sole effects of nature, not by promise, as was Isaac, when his mother was naturally past conception. (6) Flesh is taken for whatsecter in man is reguted most excellent and glorious without the grace of Christ; as nobiter, widom, understanding, or reason. Mat. 16. 17, Flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee: nothing of nature has done it. And in John 1. 13, florn not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh: that is, due in John 1. 13, florn not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh: that is, with the by their descent from such and such ancestors, nor by the power of their own freewill. The passents were so called which the Hobrews made to God, consisting of the fraits of their harvest, to appear their rubmission and dependence, and to acknowledge the sourcing mode mission of God the author of all happeness. The day after the feast of the Passover they brought a thee fine the temple, as the first-fruits of the barley-harvest. The shaft was threshed in the come; and of the grain that came out they took a full home; that is, about three pints. After it had been well winnowed, parched, and bristed, they sprinkled over it a leaf of oil; that is, near a pint. They added to it a handful of incense; and the priest that re-ceited this affering shoot it before the Lord towards the four quarters of the world; he cant part of it upon the alter, and the rest was his soon. After this, every one might hegin their hartest, Lev 23: 10, 11, dec. TRMAMENT.

It is said the form

It is said, Gen. 1.7. that God made the firma-ment in the midst of the waters, in order to separate the inferior from the inperior waters. The word there used is rakish, which is trems-lated expansion, something espanded; or firma-ment, comething form and solid. The verb rakah, from whence rakish is derived, significe rakah, from whence rakish is derived, signifer to opread metal with the hammer, to make flat, to crush to pieces, to best. Moses uses this word to describe the gold, which was beaten in order to cover the ark and the tables of the Holy with it Exod. 39. 3. Num. 16. 38, 39. Isain, to denote the pletes of gold wherexish the idole were covered, Isa. 40. 19. and the same prophet, and the Psalmist, to express the spreading forth of the earth, and its floating on the waters, for this was the conception which the Hebrews had of it, Isa. 42. 5. Psal. 136. 6. Phis intimates: that by the word firmament.

ception which the Hebrews had of st, 180.-22. D. Pisal. 136. 6.
This instimates, that by the word firmament, rakinh, the Hebrews understood the havens, which, like a solid and immense arch (though it be soft and liquid) served as a bank and barrier between the upper and lener wester; and that the stars are set in this arch, like so many precious stenes in gold and silver, Gen. 1. 17. When firmament is taken for the starry haven, then by upper waters is mean; that see or collection of maters wherehy desired for and there reserved for ends known to himself. If by firmament, we understand the air, called the expansion, because it is estended for and wide; and the firmament, because it is freed in its proper place, from whence it cannot be moved, unless by force; then by the superior meters are to be understood the waters in the clouds: And these may be said to be above the firmament or his, because they are above a considerable part of its.

This word signifies, 1. That which is before amether in respect of time; and then it is a word of order, and hath a reference to the second, third, jourth, &c. Mat. 10. 2. The first is bimon called Peter; that is, he was first called to be an apostle. And in 1 Cor. 15. 47. The first man is of the earth, the necond is from heaven. II. That which is chief, or must excellent. Rom. 3. 2. Chiefly, because unto them were committed the oracles of God. Chiefly, in the original, is first, and thats the quality and ascellence of the privilege here mentioned. So also in Luke 15. 22. Bring forth the best, in Greek, the first robe. A thing or person may be said to be first, (1) In number, Gen. B. 5, 13. (2) In order, Mat. 28. 1. (3) By creation, 1 Cor. 15. 47. (4) By generation, Deut. 21. 17. (5) In dignity, Dan. 6. 2 (6) In time, Heb. 9. 1.

PIRST-BORN. This word is not always to be understood strictly according to the letter; it is americans taken for that which is first, most excellent, most distinguished in any thing. Thus is is said of Christ, Col. 1. 15. That he is the first-born of every creature. And in Rev. 1. 5, he is called, The first-begetten of the lead; that is, begetten of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise for any creature was produced; and the first whe rose from the dead by his our power. The first-born of the Inter-bise for the power is particular in Deut. 21. 15, 16, 17.

The first-born among the Hebrews, as well as among all other nations, enjoyed particular privileges: and as polygenmy was muse with them, the most terrible of all deaths.

10. that hath not f. shall be an abomination, 12. FIRE

Is one of the four elements, which not only afords highs and heat, but whereby likewise we try and purge metals. God heth often appeared in five-and ancompassed with five; as when he shroud himmens Sinai in the midst of fames, then-derings and lightning, Exod. 3. 2. | 19. 18.

Fire is a symbol of the holiness and justice of God: The Lord thy God is a consuming five, Duns. 4. 94. He shoud himself to his Prophets, Isalah, Ezakiel, and St. John, in the midst of five, Isa. 6. 4. Each, 1. 4. Rev. 1. 1. 4. The Puslmist describes the chariot of God as all in a flame, Psal. 18. 19, 13, 14. And it is taid that God will appear in the mediat of five as his second coming, 2 These. 1. 2. and approbation. It is thought that God in this memor approach his acceptance of Abel's foot-covenant with Abraham, a fire, like that of a furnace, passed through the divided pieces of the tearingtes, and consumed them, Gen. 15. 17. Fire fell upon the secrifices which Moses of greed at the dedication of the tabernacle, Lev. 9. 24. And upon those of Manoah, Samson's fether, Judg. 13. 19. 20. And a worn the secrifices who rebelled against the Lord, says to them; A fire is kindled in mine auger, and shall barn unto the lowest hell. Ibrut. 32. 22. Isaish is still more express, the barn of the downlow of the devouring fire? who among us shall dwell with everlasting burning? Isa. 33. 14. And in chap. 65. 24, Their worm shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched. Our Seviour makes us of the same similitude, to represent the pussishment of the downed, Mark 9. 44. Is not my word like a fire? It is full of life and efficacy itile a fire, it warm, melts, and heals my people, and is powerful to consume the dross, and burn wy the chaff and stubble. And the Apostle seys, that overy man is dectrine should be treed by fire, that is, by the light of the word, of what nature it is, whether it is to true or false-sound and solid, or corrept and freshy, 1 Cor. 3. 13. Fire is tibesuie taken for persecution, discension and division. Luke 12. 49, 1 am come to send fire on the earth; that is, Upon my coming and publishing the goops!, there will follow through the devil's malice, and the corruption of men, much persecution to the professors thereof, and manifold divisions in the world, whereby men will be tried whether they be faithful or not. The church of God is compared to a fire. Obad. 18, The house of Jacob shall be a fire: The church thall subdets all her enemies. Prov. 17. 3. f. pot is for silv. furnace for gold, 27. 2. FINGER.

The finger of God signifies his power, his opertion. Pharaoh's magicians discovered the finger of God in the miracles which Mose wrought, Exod. 8. 19. This Legislator gas the law written with the finger of God to the Hebrews, Exod. 31. 18, It was written miditally by the power or Spirit of God, and n by any art of man. Our Savieur say, he can out devite by the finger, or Spirit of God, which is intimates was a sign that the kingdom. God was come; that God's spiritual governmen of his church was begun to be assertied amonthe lews by the Messiah, Lake 11. 20.

To put forth one's finger is a bantering, insulting gesture. Isa. 58. 9, If thou take away from the midst of these the chain or yoke wherewith the overwhelment thy debters, and forber pointing at them, and using jeering and insulting gasture. Some take this for a menacing or threa ening gesture.

often made of them in scripenre. Our first parents covered their nakedness with fig-leaves, Gen often made of them in scriperre. Our just parents covered their nakehus with figleways, Gen. 3. 7; gathered either from common figlrees, or 'rom some of another kind, the leaves nakerof are winch larger. This tree hith in it a milty or fat oily liquour; it is very fruitful. M. Toureloux says, that is the islands of the Archipelago, one of their fig. trees generally produces two hundred and four-source pound-weight of figs. It becomes betren, either through the defect of the above-mentioned liquor, which the hubondman cures by dung and tweet water; or through abundance thereof, which is remadied by centing the superflower price to extraoreases. The prophet lashah gave orders to apply a lump of figs to Heakinh's boil; and immediately after he was ented, 2 hings 20. 7. Physicians agree, that figs are employed with good success in bringing importances to a triponess, to healing incorponents to a triponess, to healing where, outsides, and were throut: and it is pre-immable that Hewkinh had some such disease, though the scripture makes no particular

It is taid, in Mat. 21. 19, that Jesus coming from Bethany early in the morning, and findsure kinnelf to be hungry, drew near to the find a seeing nothing but leaves upon it, he cursed it, and immediately it withered to the root. The generality both of the auctivat and modern interpreters have looked upon this action of the Jews. But a difficulty arises, from a passage which St. Mark adds to this history, that this was not a time for figs, Mark II, 13. The cartiest figs are in the months of July and August, and the latest in September and October. But what is related in the geopel came to pass four or fine days hefore the passorer, and consequently before the fifteenth day from the moon in March.
This season therefore was not a time to arpect figs: why then doth our Saviour curs this tree?

solve this difficulty, some interpreters have remslated this passage, For this was not a year for figs; they had failed this year. But this rather increases than lessons the difficulty;

translated this passage, For this was not a year for fig; they had failed this year. But this rether increases than lessens the difficulty; for why should our Seviour curse it, for having no figs, when this was not a seasonable year for figs, when this was not a seasonable year for figs, when figs had failed this year? Others translate it thus, For there where he was, it was a season for figs. It support this version, both the pointing and the common accents of the test must be changed, and the Evengelist made to speak in too concise a manner, too different from the general style of St. Mark. But others say, that though this was not the time of figs, as is exident from St. Mark, yet shere might be some of the forward kind, and our Saxiour might persume or, seeing the tree-jull of leaves. It is certain that there are forward figs: Isaiah compares the beauty of Samaria to these early figs, which people gathered, and ate as soon as they found them. Isa. 38. 4. As the hasty fruit before he summer, which when he that looketh upon it, seeth it, while it is yet in his hand he eateth it up. And Hosea says, that the Lord found Irrael in the wilderness as the first ripe in the fig. tree at her first time, Hus. 9.10. And Ivereniah describes them as excellent figs. Jeve.

FEEBLENESS.

Jer. 47. 3. the fathers shall not look back for f.

To feed signifies te eat, to take meat or nourishment for the body, and this is common to man with the beasts. Jude 12, Feeding themselves without fear. Les. 27. 10, There shall the calif feed, and there shall he lie down. It also signifies to furnish or supply others with Jood, thus Joseph fed the Egyptians for their cuttle; that is, he gaze them food and provision for one year, for which they gaze him their cuttle, Gen. 47. 17. And Agar prays that God would feed him with food convenient for him; that he would furnish him with food enitable to his necessities and occasions, Prov. 30. 8.

But loading, generally in Scripture, it taken for the business and calling of a shepherd, and comprehends all the duties belonging to that effect not only that of feeding, or providing pasture for his food, but also of guiding, observing, and defending them. In this sense, feeding is applied, 1. To God, and that (1) In respect of the church, which he rules, defends, directs, sustains, and mourishes, both inwardly, by the gifts and graces of his Spirit; and outwardly, by his power and providence. Gen. 48. 15, The God which fod me all my life Jong unto this day. And the Psalmist, Feed them also, and lift them up for ever, Psal. 28. 9. Hence God is called a Shepherd, Psal. 23. 1, The Lord in my Shephert: He provides for me, he brings me out of the wrong way, and guides me in the right. (2) In respect of the ungedly, upon them, and thou givest them has a lamb in a large place; He will make them to wender, like a lost lamb in a wilderness, and scatter them into Ansyria. (3) In respect of the creatures which receive their supplies wholly from God. Psal. 145. 15, The eyes of all wait upon thee, and thou givest them their meat in due season. Mat. 6. 26, The fowls of the air neither sow nor reap; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them.

11. To Christ, Lie. 40. 11, He shall feed his flock like a shepherd. And our Seciour says of himself, I am the good Shepherd, John 10.

Father feedeth them.

1. To Christ, La. 40. 11, He shall feed his flock like a shepherd. And our Saciour says of himself, I am the good Shepherd, John 10.

1. Christ Jesus performs all the effect of a tender and faithful Shepherd, towards his people, carrying himself with great wisdom, and compassion, to every one of them, according to their several capacities and infirmities: He feeds them by his word, Spirit, Prace, Subsess, redomestion, ordinances and infirmities: He feeds them by his word, Spirit, grace, fulness, redemption, ordinances and providences.

11. To Man. And then beside the common acceptation of the word, for feeding cattle, it is taken, (1) For instructing and techning others by wholesome dectrine; for ruling and centuring by acclesisatical discipline. John 21. 15, 10, Feed my lambs: Feed my sheep. And in Jer. 3. 15, I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding. (2) For ruling and governing politically. Thus kings and magistrates are compared to shepkerds, 2 Sam. 5. 2, Thou shalt feed my people Israel. Psal, 78, 71, He brought David to feed Jacob his people.

V. To the enemies of the church, whom God people. V. To the enemies of the church, when God sometimes makes use of for the chastisement of his people. Jer. 6. S. The Babylonian princes, with their armies, shall feed every one in his place: They shall take up their quarters in the places assigned them, and make spoil of all they can find there.

To such as flatter themselves with vain hopes of help and assistance. Hos. 12. 1, Ephraim feedeth on wind: The ten tribus flatter themselves with hopes of help from the Egyptians and Amyriana, but they are supporting themselves with hopes as unfit to sustain them, as the wind is to feed the body and nowrish it? They made new alliances and friendships, but all of them will prove lies to them at last, like the wind they feed upon.

11. To rulers, both political and ecclesiastical, who contrive their own ease, atventage, honour, and ambitious projects; but feed not their flocks; take no care to support them, either with whole amother, by coming from the several towns in the koly city.

The lichrews had a greet number of feasts. The first, and most ancient of all, was the subbath, or the seventh day of the week, instituted to preserve the memory of the world's creation.

Gen. 2. 3, And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it, because in it he had restained from all his work. Commentators are not agreed about the first institution of the subbath: Many are of opinion that the subbath hath been observed among the rightent from the beginning of the world: that the ancients having preserved the memory of the creation, observed the tabbath also, in consequence of the natural less which obliged them thereto. Some are of opinion, that people did not begin to cease from work upon that day, till after the command which God gave the Israelites to that purpose, rome time after the coming out of Egypt, when they were encomped at Marah. The Sabbatical Year, which returned every serve, and was entirely set apart for rest:

The Sabbatical Year, which returned every seven years, and was entirely set apart for resistand Jubilee year, which was at the end of seven times seven years, or of the ferty-ninth year, were sorts of leasts too, and may be considered at consequences of the subbath. The Passover was celebrated on the fencional, or rather fifteenth day of the first moush in the ecclesiastical year, which was the seventh of the civil year. The least began after moon on the fourteenth, and was celebrated properly on the fifteenth of Nisan; is lasted seven days. But the first and last days only of the octave were days of rest, Exod. 12. 14, &c. See Passover.

The feast of Pentecost was celebrated on the Aftitich day after the Passover, in momory of the laws being given to Moses on mount Sinal Afty days, or seven weeks after the departure out of Egypt. See PENTECOST.

The feast of Trumpets was celebrated at the beginning, or on the first day of the civil year, upon which a trumpet was sounded, proclaiming the beginning of the year, which was in the month Tisri, ensurering to our September. This day was kept solomn; all servile business was forbid to be done upon it; and particular serificias were offered, Lev. 23. 24, 25. The scripture does not acquaint us with the occasion of appointing this feast. Theodoret believes, it was in memory of the thunder and lightning upon mount Sinal, when God geve his law from hence. The Rabbins will have it, that it was in remembrance of the deliverence of Isaac, in whose stead a ram was sacrificed by Abraham. Others say, that as the seventh day of every week was a sabbath, and every seconth year was to be kept as a holy subbatical year, so the seventh month was to be hely in some singular manner above the rest of the months, for the many subbaths and solemn feasts that were to be observed in this more than any other month; such as be feast of Explation, and of Tabernacles.

nacles. The new moons, or first days of every month, were in some sort a consequence of the feast of Trumpets. And though these were not reclosed among the solemn feasts in Lav. 23. yet were celebrated as much, by the sound of trumpets, Num. 10, 10. by extraordinary secrificat, Num. 28, 11, 12. &c. by abstaining from service works, Amos B. 5. and by attendance upon the ministry of God's word, 2 kings 4, 23. Upon these days also some sort of entertainments were made,

The feast of Expiation, or Atonement, was key upon the tenth day of the month Tisri, or Seq upon the tenth day of the month Tisri, or Seq tember. The Hebrews call it kippur, of Chippur, that is, pardon or expiation, because it mae instituted for the expiation of all the sins, irreverences, and pollutions of all the whole year. Upon this day they fasted strictly and offered security and complete the had washed not only his hands on his feet, as usual in common secrifice, but he whole body, dressed himself in plain linen, like the rest of the private. od forbade the Hebrews to eat the fet of beasts.

Lev. 3. 16, 17, All the fat is the Lord's. It shall be a perpetual statute for your generations throughout all your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood. Some interpreters take these words in all the rigour of the letter, the state of the state well as blood to take these words in all the rigour of the letter, and respons the use of at as well ar blood to be entirely forbidden the Jews. Josephus says, that Moses forbids only the fat of ozen, goats, these, and of their species, which agrees with the law in Lev. 7. 23. Ye shall eat no manner of fat of ox, or of sheep, or of goat. The modern Jews observe this custom; and with respect to the fat of every other sort of clean creature, they think it is allowed them, vern that of beasts which have died of themselves; this is conformable to that other law. Lev. 7. 24, And the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of the beast, any be used in any other use.

But either interpreters maintain, that the law which seems to forbid generally the use of fat, is to be restrained to fat separated from the flesh, such as that which covers the kidneys and intestines; and this only in the case of its being actually offered in secrifice; which is confirmed by this passage in Lev. 7. 25. Whosoever eateth of the fat of the beast, of which men offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, even the soul that eateth it, shall be cut off from his people.

The word fat in the Hebrew style signifies not only that of beasts, but every thing likewise which release to it in other things, as in Paal. 147. 14. He filleth thee with the finest of the wheat, in Hebrew, with the fat of wheat. And in Paal. 81. 16, He should have fed them with the fat of wheat. Fat is also used sometimes for the source or cause of compassion or mercy. As the bowels are stirred at the recital of any great calamity; or at the view of some melancholy and afficited object, it has been thought that sensibility resided principally in the bowels, which are commonly loaded with being inclosed in their fat, with having shat up their bowels against him, with being in no sort affected in their fat, with having shat up the interest of

FATHER.

This word, besides the common acceptation of it for an immediate father, is likewise taken in the scripture style for Grand-father, great Grand-father, or, the very enthor and first father of a family, how remote socret he may be from those who speak. For example, the lews in our sevicur's time, and their descendants of this present generation, call themselves sons of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. And Nebuchadnezzar is termed Belahazzar's father, though Belahazzar's must his remd-son.

shazzan's was his grand-son.

By Father is likewise understood the inventor, the By Father is likewise sunderstood the inventor, the master of those who are of a certain profession.

To be gathered unto their fathers; To sleep witheir fathers; To go to their fathers, are common espressions, to signify death. In the passages, the fathers signify those who live before us, and whom we are going to meet aga in enother world.

God is called the Father of spirits, Heb. 12. Our fathers are the fathers of our bodies on but God is the father of our spirits; he monly creates them, but he justifies them likewing lovifies, and makes them happy. FASTING has, in all ages, and among all nations, been an exercise much in use in times of mourning, sorrow, and affections. The sense of it is in some sort inspired by nature, which, in these intermediates and intermediates. in come sort timpered by matrix, which, in these circumstances, denies itself nontishment, and takes of the edge of hunger. There is no example of fatting, properly so called, to be seen before Moses; yet it is presumeable that the pattiarchs fasted, since we see that there were before Moses; yet it is presumeable that the patitiarche faited, since we see that there were very great mournings among them, and those too very particularly described, each as that of Jacob for his son Joseph, Gen. 33.2. and that of Jacob for his son Joseph, Gen. 37.34.

Moses enjoins no particular fast in his five books, excepting that upon the solema day of arpiation, which was generally and strictly observed, Lev. 23.27.29, On the teath day of this seventh month, ye shall afflict your souls; that is, five healt hamble sportatives deaply before God, both inwardly by godly serrow, judging and loathing yourselves; and outwardly, by fasting and astinence from all carroal conforts and delights. Since the time of Moses, examples of Jasting have been very common among the Jews. Joshua and the adders of Israel revained prostrate before the art from morning smit evening, without eating, after the Israelites were defeated by the men of Ai, Jath. 7.6. The eleventribus which had taken arms against that of Benjamin, seeing they could not hold out against the which had taken arms against that of Benjamin, seeing they could not hold out against the which had taken arms against that of Benjamin, seeing they could not hold out against the which had taken arms against that of Benjamin, seeing they could not hold out against the Philistines, assubbed before the Lord at Mixph, and sich, 2 Sam. 12.16.

was sick, 2 Sam. 12. 16.
Moses fasted fory days on mount Horeb, Esod.
34. 28. Elijah passed as many days without eating any thing, 1 Kings 19. 8. And our Saviour fasted in the wilderness forty days and forty nights, Mat. 4. 2. These fasts were miraculous, and out of the common rules of nature. The very heathens, themselves, sometimes fasted; and the king of Nineveh, terrified by Jonah's preaching, made an order, that not only men, but beatts also, should continue without eating or drinking; that both men and beatts should be covered with sackelsth, and each after their manner should cry note the Lord, Jonah S. 6, 7, 8. The Jews, in times of public calamity, made even the children at the breast fast, Joel 2. 16.
It does not appear by our Saviour's own practice, does not appear by our Saviour's own practice, or any commands that he gave to his disciples, that he instituted any particular fasts, or enor any commands that he gave to his disciples, that he instituted any particular fasts, or enjoyined any to be kept out of pure deceasion. But when the Pharisses in the way of repreach told like. 22.23. I will f. him as a nail in a sure place him, that his disciples did not fast to often as theirs, or John the Baptist's, he replied, Can ye make the children of the bride-chamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? but the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast in those days, Luke 5. 33, 34, 35, that is, fast in those days, Luke 5. 33, 34, 35, that is, Fasting is a duty fitted to a day of mearning 1 dam. 31. 10, they f. taken from them, as to my boaily presence, and when they shall meet with many troubles and calamities, then it will be seasonable for them to perform this day of fasting. Accordingly the hife of the epostles and first believers was a tije of self-denial, of referings, enservires, and fasting, as appears from the life of the apostle Paul, 2 Cor. 6. 4, 5, 11. CT. Fasting s. likewise confirmed by our Savient's discourse on the manust, though not as a stated, yet as an occasional duty of Christians, in order to, and as an indication of, their humbling their souls for their sins, or under the afficient hand for their sins, or under the solvent requires that this day be performed in sincerity, and not in hyperity; for the glery of Cod, mot for extentation and appearance unto men.

FAMINE.

The scripture speaks of several famines which have been in Palestine, and in the neighbouring countries: as that in the time of Abraham, and again in the time of Isaac, Gen. 12. 10. 150. 1. But the most trearhable whereof we have any account, is that of server years, which fell out in Egypt, while Joseph abode there, Gen. 41. 27. It is considerable for the continuance, estent, and greatness of it; and the fell out in Egypt, while Joseph abode there, Gen. 41. 25. When all the land of Egypt was f. this varitualar the more so, that Egypt is a country least subject to these calentities, by reation of its extreme fruitfulness.

Famine is sometimes a natural effect, as when the Nile does not overflow in Egypt; or the rains do not fall in Judea, at the customary times, that is, in spring or antumn; for when find the Nile of the find of the find of the same may be f. in Israel 14. The prophets, 180. 18 give thanks to him who slew f. kings 180.

in several places, take notice of these last causes of famine, Joel 1. 3, 4, 5, 6.

Famine was also often the effect of God's anger against his people. For example: the Lard so the prophet Gad to David, to tell him, the as a punishment of his vanity, whereby he used been induced to number his people, God gave him the option of seven years' famine, or of being for three months pursued by his examines, or of seeing the placue raging for three days in his country, 2 Sam. 24. 12, 13. And in the reign of Asha, 'The Lord called for a famine, and it cane upon the land seven years, 2 Kines B. 1, 2. Amos threatens the people of God with another sort of famine, want of heavenly bread, which was that of hearing the word of God, Amos B. 11. The Israelites now despise a prophet's counsel, then they shall seek for it, but not have a prophet to give them connect.

Ratter their ambition. This infidelity is greatly aggrevated, as it implies an accusation of God, (1) Of envy; as if he had denied them the perfections becoming the human nature, and they might accend to an higher orb than that wherein they were placed, by acting the forbid-den fruit. (2) Of faleshood; as if God had threatened to inflict a punishment upon man's disobedience which he had no design to do; and what heighteen this is, that when he distrusted. attoonance american and no action to be, and what heightens this is, that when he distrusted the Fountain of truth, he gave credit to the Father of lies; as appears by his compliance, the real evidence of his faith. II. This sin included in it prodigious pride: He was scarcely ont of the state of nothing, no soone created but he aspired to be as God. Not con created but he aippired to be at God. Not content with his image, he affected an equality, to be like him in his inimitable attributes. He would rob God by his eternity, to live without end, to enjoy an immortality, not depending on God's will, but absolute, which is proper to God alone; of his tovereignty, to command without dependence; and of his wisdom, to know all things without reserve.

111. Horrid ingratitude: He was appointed heir apparent of all things; yet undertaluting his present portion, he antestains a project of improving his happiness. The excellent state nearly conferred upon him, was a strong obligation to pay to small an acknowledgment to the Lord. The use of all the garden was ellowed him, only a tree excepted. Now in the midst of such variety and plenty, to be inflamed with the intemperate appetite of the forbidden fruit, and to break a command to qual and easy, what is it but a despising the rich goodness of his great Benefactor?

1V. A bloody cruelty to himself, and to all his posterity. When God had made him a depository in a meatter of infinite moment; that; of his own happiness, and all mankinds, this thould have been a powerful motive to have kept him vigilant: But giving a ready ear to the tempter, he betrayed his trust, and at once breaks both the tables of the law, and becomes the greatest sinner, being guilty of the highest impiety and cruelty.

By voluntary disabelience our first perents fell from and lost their original rectitude and perfection of nature; which consisted in knowledge, holiuses, and perfect hoppiness, Gen. 1. 26. Col. 3. 10. Eph. 4. 28.

The fall of man. Man's greatest excellency at first was a perfect conformity to the during mattern. God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him, Gen. 1. 27. This includes,

This includes,

I. The similitude of God in the substance of the soul, as it is on intelligent, free, spiritual, and immortal being. This is assigned to be the reason of the law, that whoso sheds nan's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God made he man, man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God made he man, Gen. 9.6.

I. A maral resemblance in its qualities and perfections. Man was conformed to God in holiness; this the Apostle insimuates, when he sets forth the smertification of corrypt man, by the expression of renewing him in knowledge, righteousness, and holiness, after the image of the Creator, Eph. 4. 23, 24. Col. 3. 10. The removation of things, being a restoring of them to their primitives state; and is more or last perfect, by its proportion to, or distance from the original. Man's understanding was enriched with knowledge, which was unither acquired by study, nor confined to that or the other particular creature, but reached through the whole compass of the creation. Besides, he had such a knowledge of the Deity, awas sufficient for his duty and felicity. He discovered almighty power, admirable wisdom, had single god the interest explendent in man's conscience, the seat of gractical knowledge, and treasury of moral principles. The directive faculty was sincere and uncorrupt; it was clear from all prejudices, which might render it an incompetut jndee of good and evil. There was also a divine impression on the will. Spiritual reason kept the throne, and the inferior faculties observed an easy and regular subordination to its dictates. to its dictates.

to tex accesses.

1. The image of God consisted, though in eminferior degree, in the happy state of man, which was the consequent and accession to his holiness;
And herein he resembled that infinitely blessed And herein he resembled that infinitely blessed Being, as he is perfectly seempt from all evils which might allay and lessen his felicity, and enjoy those pleasures which are worthy of his pure nature and glorious state. This happines had relation to the two natures, which enter into man's composition, (1) The animal and sensitive, and this consisted both in the excellent disposition of his argast, and in the enjoyment of convenient objects. His body being formed immediately by God, was not liable to those defacts which proceed from the weakness of second causes: No blemish or disease, which are the effects and footsteps of sin, were the found in him: All his senses were quick and lively, able to perform with facility, vigour, and delight, their operations. Not only were his organs es-cellently disposed, but there were also conveniens objects to entertain his sensitive faculties: He cellently disposed, but there were any convenues, objects to entertain his sensitive faculties: He enjoyed nature in its original purity, crowned with the benediction of God, before it was blatted with the curse. The world was all harmony and beauty, becoming the goodness of the Creator, and not as it is since the fall, disordered and deformed in many parts, the effect of his justice. The earth was liberal to Adam of all its treatures; the heavens of their light and sweetest influences. And he was seated in Eden, a place of great beauty and delight. But (2) His chief happiness consisted in the exercise of his most noble faculties on their groper objects. The highest faculties in man are the understanding and will: and their happiness consists in union with God by hundledge and love. He saw the admirable beauty of the Creator through the transpurient weil of the creatures: And from kneet their erose in the soul a pleasure pure, solid, and satisfying. lid, and satisfying.

There was in man's dominion and power over the creatures a shining part of God's image. God gave him the solemn investiture of his dig. God gave him the solumn investitute of his dig-nity, when he prompt the creatures to receive their names from him, which was a mark of their homage, and a token of his empire to com-mand them by their name, Psal. 8. 6, 7, 8. Thus holy and blessed was Adam in his primi-tive sees.

mand them by their names, Psal. B. G. T. B. Thus holy and blessed was Adam in his primitive state. Man only of all creatures on earth was in a state of moral dependence, and capable of a law. For, a law being the declaration of the Superior's will requiring obedience, and threatening principles of reason and choice in that vasure which is governed by it: both to discover the which is governed by it: both to discover the which is governed by it: both to discover the arthority that enjoins it; to discorn the matter of the law; and to determine itself, out of judgment and election, to obedience, as most excellent in itself; and advantageous to the performer. As therefore reason made man capable of a law, so it was impusible he should be exempt from a law; for as the notion of a God, that is, of the jiest and supreme Being, excludes all possibility of obligation to another, and of subjection to the will of God.

The law of nature, to which man was subject upon his reastion, contains thuse moral principles concerning good and evil, which have an essential equity in them, and are the measures of his duty to God, to himself, and to his follow-creatures. This law was published by the voice of reason, and is holy, just, and good; and the obligation to it is eternal; it being the unchangeable will of God, grounded on the neutral and inversible relations of the law of neutre, this general principle was planted in the reasonable sonl, to obey God in any instances. Besides the perticular directions of the law of neutre, this general principle was planted in the reasonable sonl, to obey you in the content with man; she firrieds him to each the tree of knowledge of good and evil, for in the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die. This established an inseparable connection between duty and felicity, dusbedience and misery. In this threatening of each wood estockedience and misery. In this threatening the surely dience and misery. In this threatening the suncernance of each wood estockedience and misery.

knowledge of good and evil, for in the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die. This essebilished an inserparable connection between day and felicity, disobedience and misery. In this threatening of death upon disobedience, the promise of life upon his obedience was implied and easily suggested itself to the rational mind. It was created perfectly holy, but in a natural, therefore mutable state. He was invested with power to prevent his falling, yet under a possibility of it: He was complete in his own order, but receptive of singli impressions. Being therefore set upon by the most subtile of those rebellious spirits, who had fallen from their obedience and glory, he was corrupted and seduced by him, and involved both himself and his posterity in sin and misery. It to the manuer in which the devil seduced our first parents, see on DEVIL.

The honour and majetty of the whole law was violated in the breach of that symbolical precept: for in that grand apostasy many sins were uncluded; as, I. Infidelity and unbelief: God had said, Of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it; for in the day thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die. This was the first step to rain, as appears by the order of the temptation: It was first and by the devil, Ye shall not die, to weaken their faith: then Ye shall be no gods, " the, Init was the first step to rule, as special by the order of the temptation: It was first said by the devil, Ye shall not die, to weaken their faith; then Ye shall be as gods, to nd shall be their judge, as they acknowledge, Vat. 8. 29.

11. Temporary faith, together with the knowledge 1. Temporary faith, together with the knowledge of, and ascent to revealed truths, has likewise in it, an approbation of, and joy in, receiving and hearing these truths; but this joy arising from some worldly consideration, some wasishes and comes to nething: Of this kind of faith our Saviour speaks in the parable of the sover, Mat. 13. 90, He that received the seed into stony places, receives it with joy; he understands it, assents to it, he hears it gladly, considers, and approves of it; and it springs up in an outstand profession and reformation: Yet hath he not root in himself, but dureth for a while he has no undicated. hath he not root in himself, but dureth for a while; he has no sufficient or considerable root, because it wants the soil of a sincere heart, and true affections, firm and fired resolutions, and habitual dispositions of grace: Ite has some good purposes and desires, but they are soon varprovered by sumortified corruption, and the force of tempetation: for when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, by and by he is offended; He stumbles, and falls off from all his former profession of religion.

111. The faith of miracles is a firm assent of the any from all his former projection of religion.

11. The faith of miracles is a firm assent of the mind to some particular promise concerning any miraculous sent, which, if performed by us, is called an active miraculous faith; of which one Sevient and the opostle Paul speak, Mat. 17. 20. 1 Cor. 13. 2. East if it be wrought upon us, it is called a passive miraculous faith; thus the lame man at Lystra had a firm persuasion that Paul and Barnabas were able to cure him, Acts 14. 9.

1V. Justifying faith is a saving grace wrought in the soul by the Spirit of God, whereby we receive Christ as he is revealed in the gospel, to be our Prophet, Priest, and King, trust in and rely upon him and his rightcourness alone for justification and salvation. This faith beget a sincere obbedience in the life and converget a sincere observed.

and rely upon him and his rightoousness alone for justification and salvation. This faith begets a sincere obedience in the life and conversation. The aposile to the liebrews calls faith, the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen, Heb. 11. 1. It assures us of the reality and worth of eternal invisible things, and produces a satisfaction and assured confidence, that God will infallibly perform what he has promised, whereby the believer is as confidence that God will infallibly perform that he as promised, whereby the believer is as confident of them, as if they were before his eyes, and in his actual possession. The object of faith is the word of God in general, and especially the doctrines and promises that respect the salitation of men through Christs, which reason cannot discover by its own light, nor perfectly understand when recealed. The firm foundation of faith is the assential supreme perfections of God; his unerring knowledge, immuniable truth, infinite goodness, and almighty power. Faith has a prevailing influence upon the will, it draws the affections, and renders the whole man obsequious to the gospel.

By this faith, we are said to be institled.

draws the affections, and renders the whole man obsequious to the gospel.

By this faith, we are said to be justified, Rom.

5. 1. We are justified by faith, not formally, as if it were our rightcourses, or the merionious cause of our justification before God; but instrumentally and relatively, as it apprehends and applies to us the rightcourses and blood of Christ, which is the object of faith, and which only cleanseth us from all sin and renders us acceptable to God. It is called the faith through which we are saved, Eph. 2. 8. Faith is, as it were, a condition on our part, whereby we only cleanses me by from all sin ana renaers us acceptable to God. It is called the faith through which we are saved, Eph. 2. 8. Faith is, as it were, a condition on our part, whereby we come to be portakers of the blessings of the new covenant. It is a faith which worketh by love, Gal. 5. 6. It is not an idle, usuactive, and inoperative grace, but shews itself by producing in we love to God and our neighbour. It purifies the heart, Acts 15. 9. It is called the faith of God's elect, Tit. 1. 1. because it is hestowed only upon those. This grace increaseth from one degree to another, Rom. 1. 17. being in some strong and firm, Mat. 8. 10. in others weak and languishing, Mat. 14. 31. Lastly, this grace is the special gift of God, Eph. 2. 8, By grace ye are saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God. 6, 13) grace ye are saved through latth; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God, that it, That you believe, is not by any ability of your own; and that you are aneed, is motor any morth in yourselves. I ikewise in Phil. 1. 29. Unto you it is given to believe on Christ.

aith, in scripture, is taken for the truth and faithfulness of God, Rom. 3. 3, Shall their unlielief make the faith of God without effect? Faith. universe make the faith of God without effect? Skill their unbelief make the faithful promises of God, of sensing the blessiah, and of redempes on by him, not to be accomplished? It is also shen for a persuasion of the lawfulness of sings indifferent, Rom. 18, 22, 23, Haxt 132 to the offence of others: for whatever a man doesh with a wavering mind, without being persuaded that it is pleasing to God, and warranted by his word, he sinuseth in the doing of it. Faith is also put for the doctrine of the gospel, which is the object of faith, Acts 24. 24. Felis heard Paul concerning the faith in Christ, Gal. 1. 23, It preached the faith which once he destroyed. And faith is taken of Christ and the statement of the statement which once he destroyed. And faith is taken for Christ, and his righteournes; that is, his active and passice obedience, which are apprehended by faith, and are the objects of it, in all those passages where we are said to be justified by faith. It is put for a belief and prefession of the gospel, Rom. 1. 8, Your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world. And for fadelity in performing of promises, Deut, 32, 20, Children in whom is no faith; then wither the lives what I saw are Leut, 32, 20, Children in whom is no faith; that is, They neither believe what I say, nor perform what themselves promise.

FAITH.

FAITH.

Faith is a dependence on the veracity of another:
Thus trust is called faith; because it relies upon the truth of a promise: And one is said to kep his faith inviolute, when he performs the promise that another relied on. Faith, in the pro-his faith inviolate, when he performs the pro-mise that another relied on. Faith, in the pro-priety of expression, is an assent on account of the veracity of the speaker. Accordingly, divi-faith is a firm assent of the mind to things, upon the authority of divine Revelation. Faith by Divines is generally distinguished into four kinds, namely, historical, temporary, the faith of miracles, and justifying, or saving faith. Historical faith is a speculative knowledge of, and bare assent to the truths revealed in the erripture: Of this kind of faith the aports James speaks, Jam. 2. 17, 28, Faith, if it hav not works, is dead. Ye see how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only; that is, not by a more profession of faith, or a bar assent to the truth, without good works, which proceed from faith, and them it to be of the right kind. This kind of faith the devils them-selves have. Jam. 2. 19, Thou believest that there is one God; the devils also believe, and tremble. They are fully persuaded that these is a God, and that Christ is the Son of God,

2 Per. 1.16. have not followed cunningly devised f. FACE, Countenance, or visage, is a part of the body well human: It is thereby that our impart motions are made known to others: Love, hatred, desire, rangen. It is increas man our impairal motions are made known to others: Love, hetred, desire, distike, jey, grief, confidence, despair, courage, constaine, admiration, contempt, pride, moderaty, cruelty, compassion, and the rest of the affections, are discovered by their proper aspects. The countenance, as one phrases it, is a crystal, wherein the thoughts and affections, otherwise anxietible, appear; and is a natural sign, known to all. It is by the face, also, that one man is human and distinguished from another: And it is master of admiration, that so few parts compairing it, and in so small a compast, and almays in the same situation, yet there is such a distancing of figures as of faces in the world. These immerable different characters in the faces of men, is the commet of most wise providence, for the universal benefit of the world. For human societies cannot be preserved with viaence, for the universal benefit of the world: For human societies cannot be preserved with-mat union and distinction: the one present division, the other confusion; and this distinc-tion is caused by the pariety of countenances.

The Face of a man is also taken for the man himself: I had not thought to see thy face; The Face of a man is also taken for the man himself: I had not thought to see thy face; that is, thy person, says Jacob to his son Joseph, Gen. 48, 11. Before one's face; that is, in his sight or presence, Num. 19. 3. To withstand a person to the face, it or reprove him boldly, Gal. 2, 11. The pride of Israel doth testily to his face, Hos. 5. 5. It is so full and evident a witness against Israel, that no other testimony need be produced, to convince the most impodent and shameless among them. To fall to the earth upon one's face, was a posture of adoration. Josh. 7. 6, Joshua fell to the earth upon his face, in deep humiliation and ferrent supplication. To accept one's face, is to the one a favour, and grant his request. Gen. 19. +21, Peradventure he will accept of my face; he will be reconciled with me, and accept of my person. To spit in one's face, is a sign of the umost contempt. The woman, whose husband died without children, if her husband's brother refused to marry her, tipit in his face, Deut. 25. 9.

ace is likevies referred to God, and denotes tomatimes his anger. Paal. 34. 16, The face of the Lord is against them that do evil. Rev. 6. 16, Hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne. At other times, it denotes his love and favour, Paal. 31. 16. 180. The face of the Lord is against them that do evil. Dan. 9. 17. Cause thy face to shine upon thy servant. Cause thy face to shine and we shall be saved. Dan. 9. 17. Cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary which is desolate. It is also thed my himself will go with thee. The Angel of my presence, namely, the Messiah, Isa. 63. 9. Also is always in the bosom of the Father, and continually making intercession for his people with thee, namely, the Cloudy pillar. Moses, in the same chapter, begs of God to shew him his glory. God replies to kim, I will make all my goodness pass before thee, or, all my glory; thou shall have a middle transient.

with thee, namely, the cloudy pillar. Moses, in the same chapter, begs of God to shew him his glory. God replies to him, I will make all my goodness pass before thee, or, all my glory; thou shalt have a midden transient view of it; and I will proclaim my name, which I will give thee as a signal of my presence, that thou mayest attend: but for my face, thou canst not see it; for there shall no man see it and live: Thou canet not see the majesty and glory attending that external shape I have now assumed; nor thou manifestatums of my glory which the sdints are favoured with in another life; for such is the weathest of man in this life, that if I should display all the beams of my glory to him, it would certainly actionish, overwhelm, and destroy him. It was a certain persuasion, and very prevalent in the world, that no man could support the sight of God withous expiring. See Gen. 16.

And in chap. 14. The Canaanites have heard in chap. 14. 14. The Canaanites have heard that thou art seen face to face. And in Deut. 5. 4, it is raid, that God talked with the Israelites face to face, out of the midst of the fire: But in all these places, face to face is to be understead simply, as if he had said, that God manificated himself to the Israelites, that he made them hear has toice in a manner as distinct as if he had appeared to them face to face. That he speaks to them personally and immediately, and not by an interpreter; and familiarly, so as not to overwhelm and conjented them. EXORCISTS.

This word comes from the Greek 'Efopxifies, Exorcisein, which signifies to adjure to conjure, to use the name of God, with a design to cast devisit own of the bodies which they possess. When our Saviour sent out his disciples to preach the gospel, he gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, Mal. 10. 1. And when the seventy returned, they told our Saviour, Luke 10. 17, Lord, even the devils are subject to us, through thy name. By this gift, they gained repute among the people, confirming them that they were sent of God. St. Paul, in Acts 16. 18. cast out a devil, in the name of Christ; I command thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out of her: and he came out the same hour. This gift continued in the church, after the death of the apacitics, as some say, for about two hundred year, and ceased by degrees.

Those Jewish exorcists, mentioned Acts 19. 13. were such as usurped and constrictived this gift, though they had it not; but what they did must only by witchereft, and compact with the devil.

Obsephus relates strange stories concerning these exorcists. He saye, that one Elexan, a Jew, cured the possessed with the help of a ring, in which a root was set, said by some to have been discovered by Solomon. The smell of this root, with the same of the same which a root was set, said by some to have been discovered by Solomon. The smell of this root, put water the nove of the possessed person, made him fall on the ground; and the exorcist conjured the devil, forbidding him to return into that body; Joseph, Antio, lib, 8. cap. 2. Justin, Origen, and Tertuillan, syear by Jews, who boated of a power to cast out devils, and, it is said, that sometimes in reality they did to, by calling upon the God of Abraham.

To have the eyes towards, or upon one, mees that the person expects, or maits for so thing from him on whom the eyes are planting from him on whom the eyes are planting. mees that the person espects, or mains for some-thing from him on whom the eyes are placed. Thus when Adonijah, without his father? Inwiedez, had unusped the kingdom, Bath-shaba told king David, 1 Kings 1.20. The eyes of all Irrael are upon thee, that thou shouldest tell them: who shall sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him; that is, The generalisty of the people are in suspense whether Adonijah's practices be with thy con-sunt, or no, and wait for thy sentence concern-ing the successer, which they will readily emwhether Adonijah's practices be with thy con-mu, or no, and wait for thy sentence concern-ing the necessor, which they will readily em-brace. 2 Sam. 15. 19. for thou art a stranger and also an ϵ . Isa. 51. 14. the captive ϵ , hasteneth to be loosed EXORCISTS.

es from the Greek 'Ehopuisers, Exorcisein, which signifies to adjure to conjure, to use the name of Cod, with a design to cast de-vite out of the bodies which they possess. When our Saviour sent out his disciples to preach the gosvilia out of the bodies which they possess. In non-was Saviour sent out his disciples to preach the gospel, he gare them power over unclean spirits, to east them out, Mat. 10. 1. And when the seven-serving the serving returned, they told our Saviour, Luke 10. 17, Lord, even the devils are subject to us, through thy name. By this gift, they gained repute among the people, confirming them that they were sent of God. St. Paul, in Acts 16. 18. cast out a devil, in the name of Christ; I command thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out of her: and he came out the same hour. This gift continued in the church, after the death of the aposities, as some say, for about two hundred year, and ceased by degrees.

Base Jewish exorcists, mentioned Acts 19. 13. were such as usurped and counterfeited this gift, though they had it not; but what they did was only by utickeraft, and compact with the devil.

okephus relates strange stories concerning these exorcists. He taye, that one Eleanar, a Jew. cured the possessed with the help of a ring, in which a root was set, taid by some to have been ented the possessed with the help of a ring, in which a root was set, said by some to have been which a root was set, said by some to have been discovered by Solomon. The small of this root, put wader the nuce of the possessed person, made him fell on the ground; and the exorcist conjured the devil, forbidding him to return into that body; Joseph, Anie, lib. 8. cap. 2. Justin, Origen, and Tertullian, speak of Jews, who boasted of a power to cast out devils, and, it is said, that sometimes in reality they did to, by calling upon the God of Abraham.

EYE.
The organ of sight, by which visible objects are discerned. Eye or eyes, in scripture, are Agaratically applied to God after the manner of man. Prov. 15. 3, The eyes of the Lord are in every place; that us, his infinite knowledge and providence. And as in man the eye is the organ which shows compassion or fury, eye is the organ which shows compassion or fury, vengeance or pardon, gentleness or severity; in these senses eye is referred to God; Paal. 34. 15, The eyes of the Lord are upon the right teous: He favours them, and heaps blessings on them. 1 Kings 8. 29, That thine eyes may be opened toward this bease night and day; that it, that them mayest behold it with an eye of favour and compassion. So likewise in Jer. 24. 6, I will set mine eyes upon them for good. EXCOMMUNICATED.

Excommunication is an ecclesiastical censure, whereby they who incur the guilt of any heinous sin, are separated from the communion of the church, and deprived of sprintal advantages, that they may be brought to repentance, end others, by their example, kept from the like enormities. Mat. 18. 15, 16, 17. 1 Cor. 5. 5, 7. 2 Thess. 3. 14, 15.

There are generally three serits of Excommunication, distinguished among the Jews. The first is called Niddui, that is, separation. This is the lesser Excommunication. It lasted thirty degy, and separated the excommunicated persons from the use of things hely. The second was series the chem, that is Anathems; this was an aggravation of the first, and annears almost to one greater excommunication. It excluded a man from the synagogue, and deprived him of all civil commerce. The third not of Excommunication is called Scammatha, and was of a higher nature than the greater excommunication is called scammatha, and was of a higher nature than the greater excommunication is the synagogue. Some affirm, that the penalty of death was annexed to it. But Selden maintains, that these three terms, Nidul, Cherim, and Scammatha, are oftentimes the spending more than two sorts of excommunication; one greater, the other less. Acts 29.50. that after e. had, I might have to write EXAMINE, When applied to God, denotes the particular strict notice he takes of his creatures. Psal. 26. 2, Examine me, O Lord, and prove me; try my reins and my heart. As if the Psalmist had said, Because I may be mistaken, or he partial in my sum cause, therefore I appeal to thee, and offer myself to thy trial concerning what my enemies charge me with. When applied to man, examination is either private or public. Private, when a Christian tries himself by the word of God, and by what Christ has wrough to by his Spirit within him, whether he he a true believer in Jerus, and has any ground to hope for salvation through his blood and righteourness. 2 Cor. 13. 5, Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith, prove your own selves. And this duty is especially to be performed before persons parterly the contraction. faith, prove your own selves. And this duty is especially to be performed before persons partake of the Lord's supper. 1 Cor. 11.28, But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. Let him compare his heart and life by the word, to see whether he be duly qualified to partake of this ordinance, in regard of his knowledge, faith, repentance, love, and new obedience.

EXAMPLE.

It is the for a type, instance, or precedent, for our admonsition, that we may be cautioned against the sins which others have committed, by the judgments which God inflicted on them, I Cor. 10. 11, All these things happened unto them for ensamples. Or example is taken for a pattern for our imitation, a model for us to toopy after. John 13. 15, I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done I to you. And in I Pet. 2. 21, Christ suffered for us, leaving us an example, that we should follow his steps. This is one of the means by which our Redeemer restores his people to holimats, namely, by exhibiting a complete pattern of it in his life upon earth.

Finet examples have a peculiar power above the maked precept, to dispose us to the practice of holimats, may appear by considering, (1) That they most clearly express to us the mature of our duties in their redjects and sensible effects. General precepts form abstract ideas of virtue, I but in examples, virtues are made visible in all their circumstances. (2) Precepts instruct us what things are our duty, but examples assure us that they are possible. When we see man like outselves, who are united to frai. flesh and in the same condition with us, to command six that they are possible. When we see malike ourselves, who are united to fris. flesh and in the same condition with us, to command their passions, to overcome the greatest and most glittering temptations, we are encourages in our spiritual warfare. (3) Examples, by a secret and lively incentive, wage us to interest tion. We are tonched in another manner by the visible practice of taints, which reproaches our defects, and obliges us to the same seal, than by laws, though holy and good.

The example of Christ is most proper to form sat to holiness, it being absolutely perfect, and accommodated to our present state. There is no example of a mere man, that is to be followers without limitation. Be ye followers of me, as I am of Christ, says the great Apostle, I Cor.
11. 1. But the example of Christ is absolutely perfect. His conversation was a living law.
I we will be example of christ is absolutely perfect. His conversation was a living law
the was holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners, Heb. 7, 26. His seample is also most accommodated to our present state.
The divine nature is the supreme rule of morad perfection; for we are commodated to be holy, as God is holy. But such is the obscurity of our minds, and the weaknest of our natures, that the pattern was too high and glorious to be expressed by us. And though we had goodness to descend to us; and in this present itsele, and in our nature, to set before us a pattern more fitted to our capacity: So that the divine attributes are reseated in the Son of God incarnate; and being united with the graces proper for the human nature, are more perceptible to our minds, and more imiteable by us.

EUNUUH

Comes from the Greek, Eunouchos, which signifies one who guards the bed; because generally in the courts of the eastern kings the care of the beds and operments belonging to princes and princesses was committed to them; but and princesses was committed to them; but 2 Sam.12.3. poor man had nothing save one s. lamb chiefly of the princesses, who live in great con-finement, remote from the sight and company of men. The liebrew word Saris, signifies a real Deut.15.2. shall not s. it of his neighbour or brother eunuch, or one deprived of his genitals: whether he be naturally born such, or made an eunuch by manual operation. But this word, as well as the Greek Eanouchos, is in scriptne taken for an officer helonging to some prince attending at his court, and employed in the inner palace, whether he be really an eunuch or not. Potiphar, Pharaoh's emment, and Joseph's master, had a wife, Gen. 39. 1, 7 and a chi'd too, if Asenath was deugher to Joseph's master, as some think, though the generality of Commensators be of the contrary opinion.

23. 1. He that has that part wounded or cut off, which is intended for the preservation of the species, shall not enter into the congregation of the town. Some think that God here forbids enunchs to marry with Israelites: others, that God forbids them to enter into his temple;

tion of the Lord. If hick words are differently explained. Some think that God here forbids eunuchs to marry with Israelites: others, that God forbids them to enter into his temple; others, that the excludes them from all offices of the magistracy; and others, that God debare them simply the possession of some entitiated privileges belonging to the Israelites and prople of the Lord. They were looked upon in the commonwealth as dry and nucless wood. Isa. 56. 3, Behold I am a dry tree. See Dry. There were Eunuchs in the counts of the kings of Judah and Israel, officers called Sarism, enmands. Samel, describing to the people the manuar of their 'ing, tells them, I Sam. 8. 15, He will take the tenth of your need, and give manuar of of their 'ing, tells them, I Sam. 8. 15, He will take the tenth of your need, and give to his officers, or eunuchs. Some understand this properly, that he should against the command of God make some of his people cunchs, But others think that these eunuchs, in all probability, were slaves taken from some foreign people: or if they were Hebrews, the name of eunuchs, which is given taken, them some one feathen their office and diginity. Acts 10. 3. Cornelius saw in a vision e. an argel Gal. 3. 1. Jesus Christ hath been e. set forth crucined EVII.

EVII. Evil is taken for sin and wickedness: thus it us said of the wicked kings of larsel, that they did evil in the sight of the Lord, they transpressed his law, 1 Kings 16. 25, 30. And in Eccl. 9. 3, The heart of the sons of men is full of evil. This is criminal or moral evil. It is likewise taken for afficience or punishments which God inflicts upon a person or people. Job 2. 10, Shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil? Ite. 45. 7, 1 make peace and create evil almost 3. 6, Shall here be evil in a city, and the Lord hath not done it? This is the evil of punishment, or penal evil. It is also taken for superies or urongs done by one men to another. the Lord hath not done it! Thus is the evil of punishment, or penal evil. It is also taken for injuries or wrongs done by one man to another. Prov. 17. 13. Whoso rewardeth evil for good, evil shall not depart from his house. Mat. 5. 39, But I say unto you that ye resist not evil. It is put for dangers or calamities, Prov. 22. 3. A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself. He sees public celamities approaching, and uses all lawful means to seave shimself. It is taken both for corporad and spiritual evil, of sin and suffering. Mat. 6. 13, Deliver us from evil. it is said Mat 5. 37. Let your communication be yea, yea; nay, nay; for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil; that it, Let your discourse be confirmed with a base affirmation or denial only; for whatsoever is more than these proceedeth from an evil habit, or some such principle; and most commonly from the such principle; and most commonly from the devil, that wicked one, who is evil in the highest degree; who commits evil without ceasing; and who practicus all torts and degrees of it by himself and his ministers.

devil, that wicked one, who is evil in the highest degree; who commits evil without crasing; and who practies all sorts and degree of it by himself and his ministers.

The evil of sin. The internel malignity of sin, abstracted from its dreadful effects, renders it most worthy of our harted; for it is in its own, nature direct enmity against God, and obscures the glory of all his attributes: It is the violation of his majesty, who is the universal Sovereign of heaven and earth; a contrariety to his hincest, which shines forth in his law; a despising his goodness, the ottractive to obedience; the contempt of his omniscience, which she set evily sing the most of his omniscience, which she set evily sing the his owniscience, of his owniscience, which see every sing when it is committed; the slighting of his terrible justice and power, as if the sinner could secure himself from his indignation; a denial of his truth, as if the threatenings were a vain terror to scare mean from their sin. Add to this she dreadful judgments and punishments which God inflicts upon sinners for sin, sometimes in this life, but especially the torments of hell, which ere the just and full recompence of sin.

Evil eye. Prov. 23. 6, Eat not the bread of him that hath an evil eye; that 11, of the envious or custous man; who secrate for sin, sometimes in this life, but especially the torments of hell, which ere the just and full recompence of sin.

Evil day or days. Prov. 15. 15, All the days of the afflicted are evil; that is, the time of the evil days come not; that is, the time of others he will any finds. Lect. 12, 1, When the evil days come not; that is, the time of a man't youthful follies and furtie, and with the dreadful prospect of approaching death and judgment. And in Amos 6. 3, Ye that put far away the evil day; that is, ye that drive all thoughts of approaching death and pudgment. And in Amos 6. 3, Ye that put far away the evil day; that is, even that the dreadful prospect of approaching death and great with le Acuce.

FETERNAL.

The words eternal, everlasting, for ever, are smeetimes taken for a long time, and are not always to be understood strictly; for example, as us assid, Gen. 17. 8, 1 will give to thee and to thy seed the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession. And in chap. 13, 15, 1 will give it to thee, and to thy seed for ever; that is, for a lone space of time. And in the chapter of the control of the chapter of the control of the chapter of time. And in the chapter of time.

will give it to thee, and to thy seed for ever; that is, for a long space of time. And in Gen. 49. 20. we find everlasting hills, so called denote their antiquity, stability, and baram; and this expression is used to shew the eng continuance and durableness of Joseph's desired their antiquity, itability, and diram; and this expression is used to shew the eng continuance and dirableness of Joseph's string. God promises a throne to David,

The error of Balaam, Jude 11. is covotousness, to which the persons, of whom the apostle speaks, were excessively addicted, and, for the sake of filthy lucre, did corrupt the dectrine of Christ; as Balaam, for the sake of gain, taught Balak to entice the children of larnel to commit formication, and to eat things sacrified unto idols. Job, speaking to his friends, says, Be it indeed that I have erred, mine error remaineth with myself, Job 19. 4. If my opinion in this point be faulty and erronous, as you pretend it is, it is likely to continue; I see no cause from your reasons to change my judgment. Or, if I know sinned, you see I suffer deeply for my sins, and therefore descree your pity and help, rather than your reproaches, whereby you add affliction to the afflicted.

Is an evil affection of the heart, which makes m s an evil affection of the heart, which makes men grieve and fret at the good and prosperity of others. Psal. 73. 3. Rachel envised Leah, because of her fruitfulness, Gen. 30. 1. Joseph mas envised of his brethern, because his father loved him, Gen. 37. 11. The Jewn envised Paul and Barnabas, because they preached Christ, Acts 13. 45. Envy at the good of others, and malice, withing them evil, at one observes, is a deep pollution of spirit. This abolutely elienates men from the nature and life of Godifor the clearest conception we have of the Driet is, that he is good, and does good. This is not only contrary to supernatural grace, but to natural conscience, and terms amon into a devil. only contrary to inpernatural grace, but to na-tural conscience, and turns a man into a devil. This vice is immediately attended with its punishment: The enview man is his own ter-menter. Envy slayeth the silly one, Job 5.2. Envy is the rottenness of the bones, Proc. 14. 30. ESSIGN.

Insigns are warlike banners, menuments, or trophies of victory. Psal. 74. 4, Thine enemies set up their ensigns for signs. And the prophet Isaish, threatening the Israelites with an invasion, tells them, That God would lift up an ensign to the nations from far, Isa. 5. 26. If would, by his providence, bring the Assyrians or the Chaldeans against the Jews; he would, as it were, invoice them to list themselves under tiendards for the raising of armies. The same prophet says, That there shall be a root of Jesse, which shall stand for an ensign of the people, and to it shall the Gentiles seek, Isa. 11. 10.

My mouth is enlarged, tays Hannah, I Sam. 2.

1. It is opened wide to pour forth abundance praises to God; and to give a full answer to all the reproaches of my adversaries; whereas before it was that through grief and confusion. Thou hast enlarged thy bed, Ita. 57. 8. Thou hast multiplied thine idule and alters. The same prophes says, chap. 5. 14, Itell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure. The grave heth opened its month; it is ready to swallow my a vast number of the dead; it desires ne more than to devour, and abourd such as shall die by this famine, or otherwise.

In Rev. 21. 6. Christ says, I am the beginning and a kee. 21.0. Constange, 1 am ine organising and the end: I made all things at first, and I will bring all to that perfection and happiness I brief promised. And it is said, Rom. 10. 4, Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth; that is, The law was give for this end, that sinners being thereby brough for the same same since the same and their lost and undone estate, by reason thereof, should fly to Christ and his righteousness for refuge. Or to Christ and his rightousness for refuge. Or, Christ is the perfection and consummation of the law. He perfected the ceremonial law, as he was the Substance, whereof all the ceremonies of the law were shadows; they all referred to him as their scope and end. He perfected also the moral law, both by his active obedience, fulfilling all the righte-winces thereof; and by his passive obedience, bearing the curse and punishment of the law, which was due to us.

curs and parithment of the law, which was due to us.

The end of the commandment is charity, or love, 1 Tim. 1. 5. We truly accomplish the law by fulfilling the precept of love; for love is the fulfilling of the law, Rom. 13. 10. The main scope and design both of law and gaspet, is to produce a pure, ardent love of God, and of men, for his sake. There is also mention of the end of faith, 1 Pet. 1. 9, Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls;
that is, receiving that which is the scope, or of your faith, even the salvation of your souls; that is, receiving that which is the teope, or mark to which faith tends, or which is the reward of faith, namely, the assurance of the saleation of your souls. To endure to the end, Met. 10. 22. is to fight against sin and temptations as long as one lives, and constantly to adders to Christ, in spite of all persecutions for his sake. End is also taken for reward or wages, Kom 6. 21, For the end of those things is death. Lernal death is the reward or march of its wages of sin.

The elephant is the largest of all four-footed beasts. They who have studied the nature of the elephant with most accuracy, tell many estrotionary things of the sagacity, faithfulness, prudence, and even understanding of this creature. Pliny says of this animal. Maximum animal est Elephaa, proximumque, numanis see sibus: quippe intellectus illis sermonis patro dec. Hist. Nat. lib. 8. It has been often e served to do such things as are much above to capacity of other beauts. The liebrews see generally to have described it under the name. Bahemoth, which signifies in general, beauts o service. The word Elephas may be derived from Aleph, which signifies, to instruct, by reason the docidity of the animal; or from Eleph which signifies a head, or captain; because the Elephant is, as it were, the head of all othe terrestrial animals. terrestrial animals.

Elephant is, as it users, the head of all othe terrattrial aximals. The Lord, speaking to Job, describes the Elephant or Behemoth, Job 40. from verse 15. to the en of the chapter. It is there said, that he easter grass as an ox. This agrees well with whe historisms relate of the chapten. He does not feed upon carrien, and is not et all wild; has terbs, and legument, are his nourishment, at they are of our teme beasts. His bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his mall bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his mall bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his mall bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his mall bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his mall bones are as strong pieces of brass, and his and they are supported to a strong the chapter, with one stroke of historium he kills a camel or an horse. An elephant, is said, has been seen to draw two cast cannons fit housand seen with the tests, they were fastene together with cables, and weighed each three thousand seense. And there is mention in the Maccabees of an elephant in Antiochus' army which carried two and thirty armed men. The were all in a tower made of very solid sween upon the elephant's back, and the tower was bound with a very strong chain under the elephant's belig.

syon the elepanus o ours, and one souls are bound with a very strong chain under the elephant's helly. It is the chief of the ways of God. He is a remarkable piece of the creation among four footed beasts. He exceeds all others in size strength, docility, addrass, fidelity, agitity, long life, modesty and pudicity; for, it is said, that he never covers the famale as long as any one appears in sight. The scripture adds, that God who made him, can make his sword to approach unto him. Though he be so strong and terrible, yet God can easily subdue and destron him: or, God hath put his sword into his hands hath trusted him with his arms; the elephant is terrible when provoked. His erms are his trunk and his teeth. His teeth are the ivery, simell known in Europe.

trunk and his teeth. His teeth are the ivory, a well known in Europe, unrely the mountains bring him forth grass where all the beasts of the field play. Elephants are the graticat of animal; they never use their strength but when they are compelled to it. They are not of that sort of animal which create terror in others: If he passe, through a hard of other beasts, he puts them gently out of his way with his trank to make room for him; He jeeds in the fields and mead dates, and the we destinated almost animals play with misting the with importantly before him.

with impunity before him. le lieth under the shady trees, in the covert of the reeds and fens. This also agrees well with the elephant, according to the account that his forians give of him. Alian seys, that he may be called an animal of the marshes, because he lives among waters, and in moist places. He sometimes planges himself into rivers in such a manner, that no more of him is to be seen than the end of his trunk: In the summer time, he covers himself with mud, to avoid the heat.

time, he covers himself with mud, to accode the heat.

le drinketh up a river, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw up Jordan into his mouth. This elso may be filly applied to the elephant; he drinks a great deal, and large draughts, as if he were to swallow up a river and as if Jordan were scarcely sufficient to satisfy his thirst: he is not afraid when he drinks hat does it leaunely, and takes time to disturb the water which he drinketh. The scriptors adds, He taketh it with his eyes, his nose pierceth through snares. When he seas the maters of a river, he trusteth that he can drink them all ug! his eye is bigger than his belly, a commonly said. He thrusteth his most also into the river, and if there he any snares laid for other creatures, he breaks them to pieces. But others translate this verse, Can any man take him in his eyes, or pierce ms nose with snares and gins? Can he be taken openly and hy force? Surely no. His force or strength is too great for men to resust or eiercome. Others thus, He is taken by the eyes as a fish is taken by a hook. Serpents attack elephants principally in the eyes, as Pliny obstroes. The same author tays, that there are serpents in the Ganges, sixty yards long, who take elephants by the trunk as they are drinking, drag them grains, heads, or rulers of the people. Even trains, mount while the state of the Egyptians, iney had aming themselves some order and government, and had doubtless some whom they owned as their teachers and rulers, as hade of tribes have when the Lord sent ment, and had doubtless come whom they owned ar their teachers and rulers, as heads of tribes and jamilies; hence, when the Lord sent Mones to bring the children of Israel out of Egypt, he says, Exod. 3. 16, Go and gather the elders of Israel together, and say unto them, the Lord hash visited you, and seen what is done to you in Egypt. These elders were men of experience, widom, and gravity, and of entherity among the people. These clars were men of experience, widom, and gravity, and of entherity among the people judicature, was in the first susticution of courts of judicature, was in the widdrness; when bether brungs hack Zipporah to Mones, who was then encamped as the foot of mount Sinai. Munes having related all that the Lord had done for the Israelites, Jethro blessed God for it, offered hums-offering, and peace-offering, and die at mith Mones, Anvon, and the elders of Israel, before the Lord. The next day, Mones taking his seat in order to judge Israel, continued from morning to vorning employed in this manuel. Jethro remonstrated to him, that this was a fatigue above his strength to undergo, and weed he tireme both to himself and the people; that therefore he should choose tome man of firmness and fortitude, who feared God, and hatted covoluments, that they might share with him in the weight of government; that the engistency of lesser defaurs should be referred to and hated constitutes, that they migat searce with him in the weight of government; that the cognizance of lesser afairs should be referred to them; and those of more consequence should be exerced to himself. Moses rubmitted to this advice, and chose certain men of merit out of all Istael, whom he oppointed to have rule over all Israel, whom he oppointed to have rule over the people; some over a thrusand, other over an hundred, fifty, and ten. They administered justice to the people; and when any thing of greater difficulty than ordinary occurred, they referred it to Moses, Exod. 18. 1, 2, 3, &c.. The commission given to these judges is recorded in Dout, 1. 16, 17.

in Dout, 1. 10, 17. literwards, we have the particular appointment of God concerning this, Num. 11. 11, 12, 13, &c., Moses, being discouraged by the continual mur-murings of the Israelites, addressed himself to God, and desired so be relieved from some part of the burden of government. Then the Lord of the burden of government. Then the Lord and to him, Gather unto me seventy men, of sats to Aim, Cather unto me seveny men, or the elders of Israel, whom thou knowest to be the elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them to the tabernacle of the conthe elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them to the tahernacle of the congregation, that they may stand there with thee. And I will come down and talk with thee there; and I will take of the spirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them; and they shall bear the burden of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thyself alone. These elders, which composed the Senate belonging to all the tribes in general, set with the Leader, Judge, or King, who presided in this court. Thus we read, Deut. 27. 1, Moste, with the elders of Israel, commanded the people, saying, &c. And, afterwards, the elders of the congregation, consult have to supply the remainder of the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel to Ramah, I San. 8. 4. We read of these elders continually, to the time of the captivity: And we find them again efter the return, Exra 10. 7, 8, A proclamation was made throughout Judak and Jeruseless unto all the children of the captivity, according to the counsel of the princes and tiders. Besides these, there mere likewise elders beloweise

These elders are mentioned by bloses in the law; where several things are neparised to be done by the elders of the city, Deut. 19. 12. | 21. 3, 19. Boaz appealed to ten men of the elders of the city of Beth-lihemjudah, Ruth 4. 2. And we read, after the capticity, of the elders of every city, Exa 10. 14.

The Rabbins and interpreters give the following account of courts of judicature among the lews.

(1) There were three judges in every city, who had the cognitance of lesser faults: Matters concerning loss, gain, and restitution, were pleaded before them. These three judges had a right only to condemn criminals to be whight: The parties named their judges: one of the parties chose his judge; the other named a second; and these two judges took a third, with whom they decided courses. This tribunds was conculted the intercalation of months.

obmit the intercalation of months.

(1) There was another court computed of three and twenty judges, who decided matters of importance, and of a more criminal nature, and their sentences were such as generally affected the lives of persons; no causes being brought before them, but such as deserved the penalty of death. Some say, that they could only sentence to death by the moord.

III) Their great council, or Sanhedrim, which consisted of seventy senators, and which had the cognisance of the most important affairs of restee and religion, and of those which concerned the king, or high-priest. It was intended as a court of appeal, if there should be occasion, from any of the inferior courts. Some think that our Saviour alludes to these two last courts, when he says, Mat. S. 22, Whosoever is angry with his brother, without a cause, shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brither, Reca, shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hel-fire. Some interpreters suppose that one Lord proportion the waveledness in the next world. say, Anou joot, shall be in danger of nettering Some interpreters suppose that one Lord propor-tions the punishments in the nest world, accord-ing to the different sentences which were usual in the different courts of judicature at Jerusaing to the different sentences which were usual in the different courts of judicature at Jerusalem. Therefore they say, the judgment means that court where the judges were three and twenty, and who could only sentence to death by the sword: The council alludes to the court where the sword either set, which was the great Sanhedrim, and could point by stoning to death that, by hell-fire, the burning of the greatest malefactors in the valley of Hunom, is implied.

As to the Sanhedrim, it was limited to the place where the ark of God stood. The Jews say, that in the time of Moses this council was held at the door of the tabernate of the testmenty. As soon as the people users in possession of the land of promise, the Sanhedrim followed the land of promise, the Sanhedrim followed the labornacle. It was kept successively at Gilgal, tabernacis. It was kept nuccessively at Gilgal, at Shiloh, at Kirjath-jearim, at Nob, at Gibeon, in the house of Obed-edom; and lastly, it was settled at Jerusalem, till the Babylonish captivity. During the captivity it was kept up at Babylon. After the return from Babylon, is continued at Jerusalem, to the time of the caster the return from Babylon, is continued at Jerusalem, to the time of the Sicarii, or Assassins; these were certain robbers, who appeared in Judea some time before the wer of the Jews against the Romans. They were celled Sicarii, from Sica, a dagger; because they carried daggers excretly about them, so as not to be perceived, and mixing themseloes with the multitude of people that came to the great feasts at Jerusalem, they stabbed whom they thought fit; and then were commonly the first ocry out murder, as Josephus relates. The Jews, finding that these profligate wretches, whose number sucreased cry out muder, as losephus relates. The Jews, finding that these profligate wratches, whose number increased every day, sometimes excepted punishment by the favour of the president, or judges, removed the Sanhedrim to Illanoth, which were certain abodes situated, as the Rabbins say, upon the monatain of the temple. Afterwards they removed to Jamin; thence to Jericho, to Uzzah, to Sepharaim, to Bethanim, to Sephoris, last of all to Tiberias, where they constitued to the time of their utter estimation. This is the account the Jews give of the Sanhedrim. Sanhedrim.

That the scripture says of this court is found in Deut. 17. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, If there arise a matter to hard for thee in judgment (speaking to the inferior magistrates) between blood and blood, between plea and plea, and between stroke and stroke, being matters of controversy within thy pates; then shalt thou arise, and get thee up into the place which the Lord thy God shall choose. And thou shalt come unto the Priests, the Levites, and unto the judge that shall be in those days, and enquire; and they shall shew thee the sentence of judgment. And thou shalt do according to the sentence, which they of that place, which the Lord shall choose, shall shew thee, 4c. By this it appears that the chief Conductor, Judge, King, High-priest, or wheever was at the have consisted chiefly of the Priests and Levites, though their were among them wise and learned men of ther tribes, as is ecknowledged by the Jewish and most other writers.

Lord shall choose, shall shew thee, &c. By enthis is appears that the chief Conductor, Judge. King, High-priest, or whoever was at the head of their affeirs, was to be the president of this court. The rest of the judges stem to have consisted chiefly of the Priests and Levites, though there were among them wise and learned men of other tribes, as is acknowledged by the Jewish and most other vriters.

In process of time, as their kings came to be idolational, this ordinance, among others, was neglected. For we find shebshaphat restoring it, at the same time as he did the courts in overy city, 2 Chron. 19. 8, 9, 10, 11. the Lord; and Zebediah, the ruler of the house of Judah, for all the king's matters. lome think it probable, that in causes ecclesiastical, the court was made up of the Iligh-priest, and the Chief-priests, or Heads of the four and twenty courses only: and that in matters purely temporal, the supreme magistrate, with the princes, elders, and scribes, who were decors of the law, either by himself, or his deputy, took consistence. And that, where any one was accused of crimes relating to religion and state both, the Judges, in each of these faculties, sat to hear the cause. So, at the trial of our blessed Lord, Joseph of Arimathea, a rich man and a coun sellor, probably one of the seventy elders, was one of them who sat as Judges; but did not join in the sentence of condemnation; He consented not to the counsel and deed of them, Luke 25, 51. Luke 23. 51.

sented not to the counsel and deed of them, Luke 23. 51.
This council, at their return from the captivity, was restored, with the rest of their commensatih, as the prophet Exekiel foresold it should, Exek. 44. 23, 24, The Priests, the Levites, shall teach my people the difference between the unclean and the clean. And, in controversy, they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments. Some are of opinion, that the origin of the Sanbedrim is by no means to be depended upon; for the council of the seventy elders established by Moses, was not what the Jews understand by the name of Sanhedrim. Besides, say they, we cannot perceive that this establishment substitude either under Johnua, the Judges, or the Kings. We find nothing of it after the captivity, till the time of the Maccabees. Only we are certain, that this Senate was in being in the time of our Saviour, and when the Eonitionity till the time of the Maccabees. Only we are certain, that this Senate was in being in the time of our Saviour, and when the Eonitionity was much leatened; for after the banishment of Archalans, the Romans, having reduced Judea into a province, assumed the power of life and death to themselves alone: Se that this council could proceed no faither than to condemnation. For execution, they were to poser of tipe and again to themselves alone to that this council could proceed no farther than to condemnation. For execution, they were to apply to the Roman Governor.

to condemnation. For execution, they were to apply to the Roman Generally, one of the gates where the Hebrews held their courts of the city. See GATE. As the merits of every eause were to turn upon the voidence given; we what rules the law lays the voidence given; we what rules the law lays the widence given; we what rules the law lays down in reference theremade in Poeut. 17. 6. 19. 15. and what is said in relation to felse witnesses, Dout. 19. 16, 17, 18, 19. It was likewise a part of their law, that me man should be condemned without being brought to a fair trial, and hearing what he had to say for himself. And therefore Nicodemus says to the chief Priests and Pharisees, Doth our law judge any man before it hear him, and know what he doeth? John 7. 51.
The method of proceeding in the Sanhedrim is easied to be this: They who had a mind to implead any one, applied either to the king, or the high-priest, or whoever filled the post of Chief Justice, and their committed, either to the king, or the high-priest, or whoever filled the post of Chief Justice, and the committed, either to prison, or to the custody of the officer of the guard, till his trial came on. When the court sat, those who brought the information against the criminal, did it in these words: This man, having done so or so, is worthy to die. And they who were to defend him, answered, This man is not worthy to die; for he has only done so or so. And when the pleading on both sides were finished, the Judges gave their opinions ringly, whether he was guilty or not: And according to the majority of votes, one way or the other, the culprit was acquisted or condemned. Of the manner of laying the indictment, and giving in the answer, we have an instance in the laces where the Hebrews held their courts of

Some, by the Hebrew word Kedem, or, East, have understood the country which was a firewards peopled by Kedemah, the youngest own of Ishmael. Others, that Kedem was wied for, At the beginning; and that Moses intended to describe the particular time at which the first men departed after the delaye, in order to spread themselves into different countries. Others, that Moses spoke according to the custom of the Assyrians, who called all the provinces of their empire which were situated beyond the Tigris. Kedem, or East; and those on this side the same river, the West, or Arab. Others, instead of, they departed or journeyed from the east, translete, they departed to go towards the east, translete, they departed to me from a great form the east, translete, they departed to go towards the east, translete, they departed to go towards the east, translete, they departed to go towards the east, translete, they departed of the from the first called the provinces which were beyond the Tigris and Juda, 7:2. to Ai, which is on the e. side of Bethel they provinces which were beyond the Tigris and Juda; 11. 18. came by v.-side of the land of bload.

New Testamens, that the sacred Writers called the provinces which were beyond the Tigris and Euphrates, even Mesopotamia, Armenia, and Persia, Kedem, or the East. Moses, who had been bred up in Egypt, and lived long in Arabia, in this likewise might probably follow the custom of the country. It is certain, says he, that Babylonia, Chaldea, Susiana, Persia, and a part of Mesopotamia, as well as the rivers of Euphrates and Tigris, for the greatest part of their course are to the east of Palestine, Egypt, and Arabia. and Arabia ale adds, that it is farther esttain, that the people le adds, that it is farther estrain, that the people who came from Armenia, Syria, Media, and Upper Mesopotamia, esterade Palestine and Egypt from the east-side, which was inflicient for the Ilebrews to say, that these people lay to the east, with respect to them. He proves by the following passages, that these countries were known among the Ilebrews by the name of East, In Num. 23. 7. Balaam says, that Balak, king of Moab, had brought him from the mountains of the east: that is, from Pethor woon the Fa. known among the Hebrews og tan amo og Lasat. In Num. 23. 7. Balam says, that Balak, king of Moab, had brought him from the mountains of the east; that is, from Pethor upon the Euphrates. Isaiah says, ch. 41. 2. that Abraham came from the east into the land of Canaan: And it is known that he came from Mesopotamia and Chaldea. The same prophet says, that Cyrus should come from the east against Babylon, Isa. 46. 11. He places Syrie to the east of Judea. St. Matthew says, that the wise men, who came to worship Christs, est out from the east, Mat. 2. 1.

All this, says he, demonstrates, that in the cripture style, the East is often used for the provinces which lie to the North of Judea and Egypt, from whence, however, people generally enter Palestine by the way only of Damascus, which is to the north-east of this country.

The East is the first of the four cardinal points of the horison, where the run is seen to rise when in the againsocial.

In John 6. 53, 56. our Saviour says, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. Except ye partake of those benefits which I purchased by my sufferings in my human nature, ye have no oppiritual life, nor communion with God, but continue in your sint, and shall not partake of eternal life. Again: It that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. There is an intimate union and communion between us, he having a constant dependance upon me for life, which is his dwelling in me; and I giving out a constant influence and quickening visitus to make him live, which is my dwelling in him. And in John 4. 32. he says, I have meat to eat which ye know not of. I have something to do which I prefer bedity food, namely, to bring these Samaritans to believe in and own me for the true Messish.

The scripeure speaks of several natural earthquakes.

One of the most remarkable, is that which was in the twenty-several year of Uzziah, king of Judah. There is mention of this earthquake in Amos 1. 1. and in Zoch. 14. 5. Josephus 1891, that this earthquake was so violent, as to divide a mounteen in halves, which lay to the wast of Jerusalem, and moved one part of it from the places from furlongs, or fire hundred paces.

Another very memorable earthquake, was that at the time of our Saviour's cruvifizion, Mai. 27.

51. Many have been of opinion, that this motion was perceived by all the world. Other times maintain, that it was sensible only in Judea, or voon in the temple, the gates whereof were shaken, and the vail rent arounder. It must have been attended with very terrible circumstances, ince the centerion, and they who were with him, wore so affected with it, and were induced by it to acknowledge the injustice of our Saviour's condemnation, Mat. 27. 54.

An Earthquake is a great thating, or trembling of the earth, or of some parts of it, Amoa 1. 1. Great alterations and changes are expressed in scripture by a thaking of the earth, Heb.

EAST.

EAST.

The Hebrews espress the east, west, north, and south, by words which signify, before, behind, left, and right, according to the situation of a man with his face termed towards the east. By the east, they describe frequently not only Arabia, Deserta, and the lands of Moab and Ammon, which lay to the east of Palestine; but Assyria likewise, Mesopotania, Babylonia, and Chalden, which lie rather to the north than to the east of Judea. It is said, in Gen. 11. 1, 2. that the some of Noah Aaving but one language, departed from the east, and came into the land of Shinar. Herengom some difficulties have been raised; for the came into the land of Shinar. Hereupom some difficulties have been raised; for the land of Shinar is not to the west of Armenia, where the ark rested; and Armenia does not lie to the east of Babylonia, where the land of Shinar was. On the contrary, it is to the north of this country. Interpreters and Commentators, to disengage themseloss out of these perplexities, have imagined different explanations of this passage.

which sustains and most likes us. Gen. 1. 10, Job 9. 6. which shaketh the s. out of her place God called the dry land, Earth. In this sense is is taken in these passages, where the earth is taken in these passages, where the earth is said to yield fruit, to be barren, watered, &c. 12.15. he sendeth waters and they overturn the s. God called the dry land, Earth. In this sense is it staken in those parages, where the earth is said to yield fruit, to be barren, watered, &c. (2) For all that nude matter which was created in the beginning. Gen. 1. 1, God created the heaven and the earth; that is, the matter of all sensible beings. (3) By the earth is meant the terraqueous globe, the earth and all that is contains, men, animals, plants, metals, water, fish, &c. Peal. 24. 1, The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof. (4) The earth is often taken for those who inshabit is, Gen. 6. 13. [11. 1. The earth is filled with violence. The whole earth was of one language. Peal. 96. 1, Sing unto the Lord, all the earth. (5) Sometimes the whole earth, or all the kingdoms of the earth, inguifus no more than the whole empire of Chaldea and Amyria. Exra 1. 2, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth. inguifus no more than the whole empire of Chaldea and Amyria. Exra 1. 2, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth. Earth is suken for Canaan, or the land of the Jews; Rom. 9. 28. A short work will the Lord make upon the earth. He will bring a sudden destruction upon that land and will the Lord make upon the merch. He will bring a sudden destruction upon that land and people. And in Mat. 9.26, Mark 15, 33. Luke 4.25, the word which is translated land, is in

4. 25. the word wasen the Greek, earth.

A man of the earth, Gen. 9. +20, Noah was a man of the earth, a husbendman, or one who willed the ground. In Paal. 10. 18, the man of the man, while the ground and the control of the control man of the sures, a mean of the man of the earth signifies a mortal, earthly-minded man, who was made of the dust, and must return to the dust. Earth, in the moral sense of it, is set in opposition to heaven; things earthly and carries where the dust have heavenly and opiritual. John 3. the dust. Earth, in the moral sense of it, is set in opposition to heaven; things earthly and carnad, to things heavenly and spiritual. John 3.

31. He that is of the earth is earthly, and appeake the of the earth: He that cometh from heaven is above all. Col. 3.1, 2, If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, and set not your affections on things on the earth. The terrestrial man is set in opposition to the heavenly, 1 Cor. 15.47, 48, The first man is of the earth, earthy, the second man is the Lord from heaven. Adam, the first public person and head of the old coverant, now formed of the earth; he was mortal and corruptible: But Christ, the second public person, and head of the new coverant, is of a heavenly descent, and has a divine, as well as a human nature. In like manner the earthly house is set in opposition to the heavenly; 2 Cor. 5.1, If our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a bailding of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. If this bodily frame of nature were taken to pieces by death, there is a state of glong provided by God for the separate roul to past unto.

Frait 2. 3. let e, esteem other better than himself 2 Thest. 1. 3. charity toward e, other aboundeth Rev. 4. 8, the four beasts had e, of them six wings EAGLE.

Is a bird of grey, whereof there is frequent mention in scripture. It is declared, in Lev. 11. 13. to be wacken, as are all other birds of its opecies; as the sea-tagle, and the seafe named Ossifrage, because it breakt the bones in order to extract the marrow. The Hawk and Vulture may also be reckned as different species of eagles. It is test that when an eagle sees its young once so well-grown, as to verture upon Rying, it houses over their mest, flutters with its wing, and excites them to imitate it, and take their flight; and when it sees them weary or fearful, it takes them upon its back, and carries them to, that the foulers cannot hart the young without piering through the body of the old one. In almaion to this, it is said, Exol. 19. 4. That God deliberted his people out of Egypt, and bore them upon eagles' wings; and in Dout. 32. 11, That the Lord took upon himself the care of his people; that he led them out of Egypt, and set them at liberty; as an eagle takes its young out of the next, to teach them how to fly, by gently fluttering about them. It is of great courage, to at to set on harts and great heasts. And her no less mibility in taking them; for having filled its wings with sand and dust, it sittled on that born, is and by its wings shaketh in their eyes, whereby they become an easy prey. It fliest bery high, Prov. 30. 19, yet, in the twing lifed its wings with sand and dust, it sittled on that born, and by its wings shaketh in their eyes, whereby they become an easy prey. It fliest bery high, Prov. 30. 19, yet, in the twing lifed its mings with sand and fust, it sittled on that born, in the tow, if it is entered to the carth, or in the tea. It brilled his nest very high in the tops of rocks, Job 39. 27. It goeth forth to grey about morn, when men are gone home out of the fields.

It hath a little eye, but a very quick sight, and introduc whole prey, but leaveth part of it for other birds, which follow. Its feathers or quilts are said to consume other quilts that lie near them. Between the eagle and dragon there is constant enmity, the eagle seeking to kill it, and the dragon breaks all the eagle's eggs it can find; and hearing the noise of the eagle in the air, speedeth to its den, and there hides himself. To provoke its young ones to fly, it flutters over them and takes them on its wings, Deut. 32. 11. Ins. 40. 31. and if they attempt not to fly, it hears them with its bill, and gives them no just. Beats them with its bill, and gives them no just hears them with its bill, and gives them no just hears them with its bill, and gives them no just hears them with the sill, and some in the sea, wherein they can from on high perceive the smallest fish, and some on the land. The eagle moulters and loses its feethers yearly, at which mallets the and its very feethe. It is said, Paal. 103. 5, Thy youth is renewed like the eagle's that is, thy bedily health and strength contained that the sill had its renewed like the eagle's with a till year the eagle's doth, even till old age.

orgorous and lively, as the eagle's doth, even till of age. In Micah 1. 16. it is said, Enlarge thy baldness as the eagle: This signifies, that they to whom the prophet addresses himself, should out of their hair in time of mourning, should be saked and stripped like an eagle when it moults its feathers. It is said that the eagle at that itseases casts almost all his feathers, and falls into a languishing condition, on as neither to be able to hunt after prey as usual, nor create terror in other birds.

ur Saviour, in Mat. 24. 28. says, Wheresoever the carcase is, there will the eagles be gathered Our Saviour, in Mat. 24. 28. says, Wheresoever the carcase is, there will the eagles be gathered together. Job says of the eagle, chap. 39. 30, Where the slain are, there is she. Neutralists observe, that the common sort of eagles ear mo carrion, but that there is not one of any kind that what easts ram flesh, though not indifferently of all sorts, nor that of any creature which dies of itself, but such only as is fresh and latify killed. What Job says concerning the eagle is to be understood in a literal sense: but our Saviour makes an allegory of it, and says, that wherever there are Jews, who deal unjustifyilly with God, there will be also Romans, who bore the eagle in their standards, to execute God's wengeance upon them.

As the eagle generally flies most swiftly, especially when hanger and the sight of prey uniclen its motion: in this sense the days of men are compared to it. Job 9. 20, My days are passed away as the eagle, that hasteth to the prey. So are riches; Prov. 23. 5, Riches certainly make themselves wings, they fly away as an eagle towards heaven. As also the persecutors of the church; Lam. 6. 19, Our persecutors are kings of Babylon and Egypt are also compared to an eagle. Each. 17. 3, 7.

EAR.

The ear is the interest.

EAR.

The ear is the instrument or organ of hearing, Eocl. 1. 8. The Lord says to Isainh, Make the the hearts of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, Isa. 6. 10.; that is, tell them that I will suffer them to harden their hearts, and stop their ears against my word. The scripture sometimes says that the prophets do what they forted only. The same prophet, speaking of himself, says, The Lord hath opener mine ear, and I was not reellious, Isa, 50. 5. He has given me his orders, and I obey without contradiction. And speaking to the Jens, Thou that time that thine ear was not opened, Isa, Thou that time that thine ear was not opened, Isa, 88. 8. Thou hast never heard any mention made of what I am going to tell thee. Uncircumcised ears, Jer. 6. 10. are ears dag to the word of God: Their ear is uncircumcised; overgrown, as it were, with a thick stin; their hearts are filled with obtainancy and impensionery, which make them incapable of entertaining any good counsel. What ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the house-tops, Mat. 10. 37. Declars that every where, and publicly, which I have revealed to you in private. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear, Mat. 11. 5. Its that hath his ears opened, that hath a mind enabled by God to believe what I tay, let him make use of these abilities to understand and consider it. Ear is figuratively, and after the manner of men, applied to God, denoting his readinest to hear and answer the prayers of his people, Psal. 34. 15. 116. 2. Ilis ears are open unto their cry. Because he hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will call upon him as long as I live. To uncover the ear is an Hebraism, whereby is meant, to thou, or reveal something to a person. I Sam. 30. 4. 2, My father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will nancover mine ear; that is, he will shew it me. The servant who renounced the privilege of being freed from servitude in the substical year, had his ear pierced with an and: this was performed in the presence of the judges, that it might oppear that this was his own free choice, and that he was not overaced, or compelled thereto by his master's door; which was a person of the armounced and perpetual obligation to abide in that house, and there to hear and obey his master's commend, might be irrevocable: His ear was bord at his master's door; which was a mard of servitude and boudage, and did represent his master's commend, Enod. 21. 6. To dwell signifies to abide in, to inhabit, to have a fixed residence in a place, Num. 33, 53. Psal. 78. 55. Sometimes it is taken for sejourning, Heb. 11. 9, where it is said, that sibraham dwelt in tabernacles; that is, sejourned; for he had no fixed abede in the land of Canaan. It is spoken [1] Of God, who is said to dwell in the heavens, Psal. 123. 1. He hath a certain and glorious place where he resideth, even the highest heavens, where he is clothed with infinite power and majesty, and from whence he beholdeth and governeth this lower world and all that is in it. His gracious presence with his people on earth is signified by dwelling with sensiatin and governoth this lower world and all that is in it. His gracious presence with his people on earth is signified by dwelling with them. Psal. 9. 11, Sing praises to the Lord who dwelleth in Zion: where the ark was, which who dwelled in 2.10n: where the ark was, which was the symbol of his special and gracious yre-sence. And in Isa. 57.15, I dwell with him that is of a contrite and humble spirit.

By dung is represented any thing that is nau-scour, or loathtome, as the carcases of the dead, Jer. 8. 2. 9. 22. The wicked man, says Job, shall perish for ever, like his own dung, Job 20. 7. which men cast away with contempt, and abhorrence. To spread dung upon the and abhorrence. To spread dung upon the face, espresses the greatest contempt, undervalue, and scorn. Mal. 2. 3, I will spread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts. I will pour digrace and contempt upon you, and reject your persons and sacrifices, with as much contempt as if I took the dung of those sacrifices and threw it in your faces. The apostle Paul says, Phil. 5. 8. I count all things but dung, that I may win Christ. All things, without Christ, are as dung, Christ. All things, without Christ, are as dung, utterly insufficient to grown our parden and acceptance with God.

make use of Dromotaries. It is send that they can go an hundred miles in a day with them; nay, some aftern, that there are some which will travel an hundred and fifty miles in a day. There are two vorts of Dromedaries, one of a larger kind, with two bunches upon its back; the other lesser, with only one. Both are very common in the western parts of Asia, such as Syria, and Arabia. That which hath but one hunch upon its back, is more commonly called Camel; the other is named Dromedary. They are both cepable of very great fairjust; their hair is soft, and short, but about the middle of their backs, camele have a little eminence covered with hair, a foot high upon their bunch; and Dromedaries have two bunches, and two eminences of hair, which, however, are very small; and if it be rightly considered, Dromedaries and Camels are no more hunch-backed than other animals. They have no fangers and fore-teeth, they have no more hunch-backed than other animals. They have no fengers and fort-etech; they have no horn upon their feet; for they are only covered with a fleshy ikin. It is said, that when they drink, they disturb the water with their feet: some believe they do this to make the water heavier, that it may continue longer in their stomachs. They are said to drink a great deal, and keep it a long time, against their being thirsty afterwards; nay, some will have it that travellers upon pressing necessities open their stomachs, take out the water contained in them, and satisfy their thirst with it: The stomach of these creatures is composed of four ventricles, and in the second there are several mouths which open a pastage into about twenty carie made like made? and in the second there are streral mouths which

By the words annesed to DRY, the meaning is obvious. It is spoken of land, ground, provision, waters, trees, and other things. The prophet Isaiah speaking of the Messiah says, He shall grow up as a root out of a dry ground, Isa. 53. 2. Which prophety respects our Saviour's mean original, either as he sprang of the Jewish nation, which, about the time of his appearing in the world, was poor, despised, and ostilated. Or, by the dry ground, may be understood the royal family of David, which, at that time, was poor, decayed, and contemptible. The same prophet says, chap. 56. 3, Neither let the eunuch say, behold, I am a dry tree. The Lord, by his prophet, does here encourage the ensuch, who, being eschuded from the congregation of the Lord, Deut. 25. 1, and also by reason of his barrenness, which was often threatened as a curse, and was matter of reproach among the Jews, might be ready to and also by reason of his barrenness, which was often threatened as a curse, and was matter of reproach among the Jows, might be ready to think that he was cast out of God's covenant, and cut off from his people, to whom the blessing of a numerous posterity was promised. Yet he is desired not to be discovarged on these accounts, and assured that God would accept of him, notwithstanding his barrenness, and his being excluded from she participation of church-writeless. privileges. When our S rolleges. When our Saviour was led away to be crucified, he tells the Jown, Luke 23. 31, If they do these things in a green tree, what shall be done in the dry? If such soils befol we, who have deserted no such thing, but rather to be cherished and kindly entreated; what will befol you, who are fitted for destruction, like dry wood for the fire? The prophets sometimes compare a barren and unfruifful people to a dry land. Isa. 41. 18, I will make the dry lend springs of water. I will make the lews and Gentlies, who are like a dry and barren wilderness, to be come fruifful. In other places, when judgments are threatened upon a land, it is said to be made a wilderness, a dry land, a desert, Jer. 50. 12.

To drink, signifies to drink liquor moderately, for the satisfying of thirst, Num. 6. 3. Ruth 2. 9. Sometimes it signifies to drink plentifully, liber Sometimes it signifies to drink plentifully, liberally, and largely, so as to be merry, but not to access or drunkenness: Thus it is said, Geo, 43. 34. that Joseph's brethren drank and were merry with him: The Hebrew mord here used often signifies to drink to access: but it is not to be supposed that Jacob's some should forget themselves to far upon this occasion, as to be manting in that decency and respect which they owed to one so considerable as Joseph, whom as yet they know not to be their brother. And in John 2. 10, Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worne; but thou hast kept the good wine until now. It is incredible that our Saview waited till the guests were Saviour waited till the guests that our Saviour waited till the guests were drunk, in order to perform the miracle which he wrought at Cana in their favour. And in 1 Cor. 11. 21, One is hungry, and another is drunken, that is, One wants, and the other abounds: The poor Christians were hungry, while the richer sort had too much, and fared liberally. To drink, in other parts of Scripture, is often taken in an odious sense, for drinking to excess, for being intoricated with liquor of Gen. 9. 21, Noad trank of the wine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered in his tent. Loc's two daughters made their father drink to excess, and both propod with child by him, Gen. 19. 32, 33, &cc.

Who with greediness and delight breaks forth into scoryful and contemporae expressions, not only against his friends, but in some sort soon against God himself, but in some love and the permade the Jews into a resolution of holding. Rab-shakeh says, that Hewkinh designed to permade the Jews into a resolution of holding. Rab-shakeh says, that Hewkinh designed to permade the siege of Jerusalem, that so he might reduce them to the necessity of drinking their con the siege of them to the might reduce them to the necessity of drinking their content himself with the langful plearness of the utmost astrements in the langful plearness of marriage, without thinking on that which was prohibited by the law. To eat and drink was prohibited by the law. To eat and drink was prohibited by the law. To eat and drink was prohibited by the law. To eat and drink and to enjoy the good of all his labour. It is said in Mat. 11. 18, 19, John came neither eating nor drinking; that is, he did not live in the common and ordinary manner, as other other men did, but used a mean and pecular dist: but the Son of man came eating and drinking; wring ruch a dict as other men did, and concerning freely and sociably with all over:

By this word are to be understood those vain images, which are formed in the imagination while we are asteey, Job 20. 8. He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found; yea, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night. The Eastern people, and in particular the Jews, had a very great regard to those who pretended to explain them. We see the anisipity of this custom among the Egyptians, in the history of Pharach's butter and baker, and in Pharach himself, Gen. 40. 5. 8. | 41. 15. Nebuchadneszar is an instance of the same among the Chaldeans, Dam. 2. 1, 2, 3, &c.. God had very expressly forbidden his people to observe dreams, and to consult those who took upon them to explain them. He condemned any one to death who pretended to have prophetic dreams, and to forced were to come to pass, if after this he would engage the people in idolatry, Deut. 13. 1, 2, 3, &c. But they were not forbid, when they though they had any significative dream, to address themselves to the prophets of the Lord, or to the high-priest dressed in his ephod, in order to have it explained.

Wherefore in that very place, wherein God for-have at explained.

Wherefore in that very place, wherein God forbid the Hebrews to commit diviners, magicians, and interpreters of dreams, he tells them. The people whose land ye are going to possess, consult soothsayers and diviners; but ye have not been so taught. The Lord shall raise up from the midst of you, and among your brethren, a prophet like unto me, him ye shall consult and hearken to, Deut. 18.14, 15. The Israelius; therefore were to address them-Israelites therefore were to address themselves to God and his prophets, to learn the explanation to Uod and me propaets, to tearn the arpametion of thing to come. Saul, a little before the battle of Gilboa, consulted a woman with a familiar spirit, because the Lord had departed from him, and would not answer him, and discover nim, and would not answer to him, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets, 1 Sam. 28. 6, 15 and the find that the Lord did indeed sometimes discour his will in dreams, and raised up persons to explain them. He informed Abimelech in a dram that Samb was the significant of the him that samb was the significant did him the samb was t discover his will in dreams, and rasses up rouse to explain them. He informed Abimelech in a dream, that Sarah was the wife of Abraham, Gen. 20. 3, 6. He themed Jacob the mysterious ladder in a dream, Gen. 23. 12. 28. 39. thou shalt plant vineyards, and d. them 13, 14. Is a tame bird, which by the law of Moses was de clared to be pure. The law ordained that when any woman went to the temple after lying-in, she should offer to the Lord a lamb, a dove, or turtle any woman ... About offer to the Lord a lamb, a dove, or tweste, or else a pigeon, or a young turste, Lov. 12.6, 8. The lamb was offered as a burnt-offering, the pageon for a sim-offering. Or if the person could not afford a lamb, then instead of it she offered two pigeons, or swo twiles. The Virgin Mary, not afford a lamb, then instead of it she offered two pigeons, or two turtles. The Virgin Mary, to comply with this law, offered two pigeons, or two twelfer, because the was poor, Luke 2. 24. And as it mas difficult for all thate who came from remote places, to bring dores with them, the priests gave permission for the telling of these birds in the courts of that holy place, which our Saviour could not endure; and having entered into the temple, he made a scourge, and drove out those who traded there in pigeons, Mark 11. 15.

Mark 11. 15.

We dove is the symbol of simulicity and inventee controls.

drive out those who traded intere in pigeons, Mark 11. 15.

The dove is the symbol of simplicity and innocency. The Holy Spirit appeared at the baptism of our Savinur in the form of a dove, Mat. 3. 16. to rightly what Christ is, (1) In his com nature to them that come to him, namely, meek, harmless, loving. (2) In the esecution of his office, oven He by whom the Father is pacified, and who brings the good tidings of the assuaging the deluge of wrath, as the dove did of the retiring of the matter to Noah.

(3) What he is in the operations of his Spirit upon his people, that they are made meek, harmless, and lowly as doves. Christ recommendate his disciples the wisdom of the serpent, and the harmlessness of the dove, Mat. 10. 16. The prophet House compares the Irraelities to a tilly dove without heart, or understanding, without gall, or comming, exposed to the purmit Hos. 7. 11. The dove is a dejenceters creature, without gall, or cumning, exposed to the pursuit of men and beats; which is able neither to protect itself nor its young, not take preamtion against those who have designs upon its life and liberty. Thus the Israelites, notwickly the state of the protection of the prote of men and beaut; waten is absentine to protect itself not its young, not take precaution against those who have designs upon its sife and liberty. Thus the Israelites, notwithstanding the chastizements with which God afficied them, and the captivities to which he had reduced them, still relapsed into their irregularities, and exposed themselves again to the same calemities. The dove, when absent from its mate, sits solitary, and coos, or mourns; in almoson to which are these expressions, Ina. 38. 14, I did mourn as a dove. And chap. 59. 11, We mourn sore like doves. Nah. 2. 7, Her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves. The spouse, or church, in the Canticles is compared often to a dove, by reason of her dove-like temper and disposition, because she is chaste, mild, harmless, and faithful: also by reason of her dove-like temper and disposition, the being weak, and exposed to persecution, and given to mourning, and subject to many fears, as dovee are, Cant. 2. 14. 15. 2. It is further observed of the dove; that the male and female love each other, and keep faithful one towards the other; and, if any breach happen between them, they are presently reconciled, manifesting the same by their embracing each other. They love men's duelling-houses, and to be in their company; and, being carried from home, will return many miles to their necks, which home, will return meny miles to their necks, which home, will return meny miles to their necks, which home, will return meny miles to their own houses; for which veason some make use of them to carry letters, by signing them about their mend, and are thereby acquainted with their mind. The dove is an enemy to carrion or ordare, and feeder to me men to carrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, and feeder to me on the corrion or ordare, are thereby acquainted with their mina. Inee dove is an enemy to carrion or ordure, and feed-eth upon the purest seed or grain, and loveth neatness and pure waters. It quickly forgets injuries, as the spoiling its nest, taking away its manual for It is never feasiful having away its injuries, as the spoiling six nest, caking away not young, &c. It is very fruisful, having young ones admost every month. Its feathers are of divers colours, which, according to the variety of its postures, and of the light shining upon it, look like silver or gold, as the Paalmist observes, Dalfon 16. Psal. 68. 13.

Paal. 68. 13. It is trained to a single of Samaria, in the reign of Ahab, king of Iarael, the famine was so great, that the fourth part of a cab of doves' dung was sold for five alackels. A cab held two pints and something over. Five shekels made about twelve shillings. suchels. At cao ness we prove twelve shillings evering. Some think that it is not incredible that they did really and dover dung, seeing a famine hath constrained people to eat things as improper and unfit for nourishment as this, as it implied, Isa. 36. 12. Josephus and Theodoret were of opinion, that this dover dung was brught instead of salt. The Rabbins affirm, that it was not the dung of pipeous, but the corn in their crops, which they brought back well filled out of the fields, whither, during the siege, they went to feed. Others suppose the doze's belly, her guts and inwards to be meant here.

The several species of the Dove, are the Wood-pigeon, the Tame-pigeon, the Ring-dove or Tur-tle, the Picaipinima, and the St. Thomas's Pitle, the Picaipinima, and the St. Thomas's Pigeon. The three first often occur in the Bible, under the names of the Pigeon and l'urtle-dove, and the two last are natives of America; the Picaipinima being the grey and black Dove, with a white breast; and the St. Thomas's Pigeon, being the Columbo with yellow legs.

John 21, 8, came in little ship,d.the net with fish DRAGON.

This word enswers generally to the Hebrew, Than-nim, or Thannin, which rignifies a large fish, a nim, or Thannin, which rignifies a large fish, a sea dragon. By comparing the different passages where the word tannin, or tannim is to be met with, it rignifies cometimes large river or sea fishes, and at other times venomous and land strepents, and more particularly the crocodile and whale, Gen. 1. 21. Job 7. 12. Isa. 34. 13. Exek. 29. 3. | 32. 2.

As to the dragons which are talked of, and are often mentioned in books, they are for the most part only old serpents grown with age to a prodigious time. Some are described with wings, feet, clause, crest, and heads of different figures.

There is no question but there are winged serpents; Moses speaks of them under the name of Zeraph, Num. 21. 6. Real Dragons, by Solimus secupus, vium. 21. to. Cor. 5. 2 not mouraed that he hain a tais usesue. DOOR Properly signifies the entrance into a house, Gen.

19. 9. It is likewise taken in a metephorical sense: One Savious says, John 10. 9. 1 am the door; by me if any man enter in he shall be awed. I am the only way whereby lost sinuser may come to God, and obtain salvation: The only way of entrance and admission both into the church militant and triumphant is by me; for none, but ruch as have a true and a lively fasth in me, wrought in their woul by my Spirit, can be true members of my church here, much less members of the glorious church in heaven. It is taid, in Rev. 3. 20. Behold, I stand at the door, and knock. I stand at the door of sinners' hearts, in the gospel dispensation, inviting them to repent, and turn from their evil useys. There is likewise mention made of the door of mercy, or the time or stason of grace, Mal. 25. 10. They that were ready, went in with him to the mar DOOR likewise mention made of the door of mercy, or the time or season of grace, Mat. 25. 10, They that were ready, went in with him to the marriage, and the door was shut. Lake 13. 25, When once the master of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, doc. By these perabelical capyearsons our Sapiener intimeies, that there is a determinate time, where that there is a determinate time, where in vinners must, if ever, accept of the offin. A grace and salvation, which, if they slip, Any sill not be able to obtain of God an entrance into the kingdom of heaver; the door of me. y and grace the door of heaven and glory, will be shut against them. In Act 14. 27, we read of the door of faith; God had opened the door of faith;

7. 28. [6] The act of teaching, Mark 4. 2. 1. 1. Divine instrictions, Max. 15. 9. The doctrine of Balaam, Rev. 2. 14. The histor of Balaam is recorded in Numbers, chepters 23, 24. He was tent for by Balak, king of Moab, to come and curse Israel; and fadin that God restrained him, and turned kim fron curreing to pronouncing blessings upon them, be is structed Balak at last, how to lay a stumbling block before them, to make them to fall: He to Balak and the Midianites, that if they some secure themselves from the attempts that if Hebrews might make against them, and obtain some advantage over them, they should engage them in idolatry and whoredom; that then the would be fortaken by their God, and would be come a prey to their enemies: the years mome of Moab invited the Israellites to the feats of Baal-peor; and after they had persuaded these to ambrace idolatry, they seduced them to impurity. This doctrine is the same with what is called the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, Rev. 2. 15. This sect took their name from Nicolas one of the first seen deacous, of whom mension is made in Acts 6. 5. He phanged himself ing irregularities, as it is said, and gave beginning not only to this zect, but also to that of the best of their passions, invented many different sorts of crimes and wickséness. Amonthese Nicolaitans, adulteries, and the use of meats affered to idols, were held as inciferent hings. St. Austin says, Hæres, 5. that the have their women in common, and make no serve plet to conform to all the pagen superstitions.

accused him for contradicting the law of Moses, Done, 24, 1. Our Saviour answered neither secured him for contradicting the low of Moses, Dens. 24. 1. Our Soutons amoured neither you nor nog, but gave them a fair occasion to amouser themselves, and tecitly charged them with ignorance and corruption of the low of God. He referred them to the first institution of marriage, in Gen. 1. 27, | 2. 24, Have ye not read, that he who made them at the beginning, made them male and female? and said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh. What frore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put as under. From hence he leaves them to conclude, whether it was probable that Moses, whom they so reverenced, and who was so faithful in the house of God as a servent, did give them a liberty to put arunder those whom God had joined together. Or whether they had not put an interpretation upon the law of Moses, which it could not beer, in consistency with the law of God. Our Seniour adds, that Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, suffered you to put away your wives; but from the beginning it was not so; that is, Moses gave you no positive command in the case; he could not make a law directly opposite to the law of God. But seeing your wicked and malicious disposition, that you would turn away your vives without any just and warrentable cause, and to restrain your strangencies of cruelty to your wives. or disorder! and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh. Wherefore the Wherefore they disposition, that you would hurn enemy your wives without any just and warrantable cause, and to restrain your estravagancies of cruelty to your wives, of disorderly turning them off young my occasion, he made a judicial, political, or civil law, whereby, upon reason of state, namely, to prevent a greater civil michief, he did so far allow of it, as to exempt them that did st from any civil punishment; but still it was a transpression of the moral law, and so a sim against God. After which our Sevieus determines on this question, according to the original law of God, and limits the permission of disorce to the single cass of adultery. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, escept it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery, and whoso marrieth her that is put away, doth commit adultery. In the case of adultery, the marriage commant being broken, the marriage-bond is fundamentally disvolved, and its lies in the power of the party wronged to prosecute it to a formal dissolution, by divorce; and then the wronged party is at liberty to marry again.

The Eastern people, and particularly the Israelites, were always very fond of divinations, magic, and the curious arts of interpreting drams, and inquiring, by unleafful methods, into the howeledge of their timorous and repertitious genius. When Moss published the law of God, this voil was and had been for sometime very common in Egypt, and the neighbouring countries; and to one the Israelius of their inclination to consult diviners, formustellers, august, and interpreters of drams, by the promised them from God that the Spirit and forbade them, under very store penalties, to onnut diviners, estongers, and other persons of this kind. He commanded them to be stoned, the protected to have a familiar spirit, or the spirit of divination, Lev. 20. 27. And in Deut. 18. 9, 10, 11, 15. he says, When thou are come into the land which the Lord thy God fiveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the aboundation of those nations. There shall not be found among you any one that wheth the content of the substitution of these nations. There shall not be found among you any one that which the variet when the shall not be reasoned. shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch: Or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a winard, or a necromancer. God will rime up unto thee a Prophet, from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto the year of the prophets are full of innectives against the Israelites, who consulted divinars, and against the false prophets, who set up to forstel things future, and by the means seduced the people, Jer. 14. 13. Lak. 13. 6. 7. by this means lask. 13. 6, 7.

Lask. 13. 6, 7.

There were neveral sorte of divinations, namely, by nater, fire, earth, air; by the flight of birds, and their singing; by lest, by dreams, by the maff, or mend, by the entrails of victims, and by cap. The heathens used many divinations, being excited thereto by distrust of God, and the temptations of the devil, who had a great hand in many of their answers, Acts 16. 16.

Joseph's cup, mentioned in Gen. 44. 5, which was concealed in Benjamin's sack, the younger brother of this Patriarch, in the subject of many different conjectures, founded on the words of Joseph's officer, Is not this the cup in which my lord drinketh, and whereby he divineth; 1 2 m. 48. 8. d. to me by the familiar spirit Some question whether Joseph dis indeed make Exek. 13. 9. my hand on the prophets that d. lies 23. we shall see more variety or divinition.

my lord drinketh, and whereby he divineth? Some question whether Joseph sid indeed make use of this cup in foretelling what was to come; whether his people believed to, or whether this was raid by them, according to the common opinion of the Egyptians, who held Joseph for a great magicien; or whether they said so to intimidate Joseph, brethren, making them believe, that Joseph, whom as yet they knew not to be their brother, was a man very expert in the art of divining, and had discovered the thest which, they had committed, by virtue of this art.

All these several opinions have their defenders. It is certain, that the ancients had a nort of divinition by cups. The eastern people say, their old hing Giamschild, who is the Solomon of the Persians, and Alexander the Great, had cups, by means whereof they knew things natural, and sometimes even supernatural. The amcients speak of certain divining cups full of vine, or other liquors, which were powed out with ceremony from the ride where the handle was, and that from thence they drew presages of what was to come. Pliny speaks of divinations with water and besieve, in lib. XIX. cap. 2. The manner of divining by the Goblet was this: Little plates of from thence they drew presages of what was we come. Pliny speaks of disvinations with water and beties, in lib. xxx. cap. 2. The manner of divining by the Gobles was this: Little plases of gold, or silver, or some specious stones, with certain characters engraved upon them, were thrown into it; and after some invocations, and operations estimate the manual plant of the consulted. He answered in several ways; sometimes by articulate sounds; sometimes the made the characters in the Goblet appear upon the superfices of ticulate sounds; sometimes he made the charac-ters in the Goblet appear upon the superfices of the water, and formed his answer by the order in which they stood. Sometimes he traced the images of the person on whose account he was interrogated. All other times a ring was fast-ened to a thread, and held supended over the water in the cup: the ring, by its different per-cussions, should be several things which were inquired after.

unquired after, use as to be believed, that he used his cup in dirinations: he was too wise and religious to practice any thing so vain, and so contrary to religion, as divinations, of wher nature soever they might be. He was certainly very shiful in the science of foretelling things. mature socioer they might be. He was certainly very skilful in the science of forstelling things to come; but this knowledge was not acquired; it was no curious and disboliced art; but some impernatural faculty which God had communicated to him, whereby he procured that high consideration he was in throughout Egypt. It is not incredible that the Egyptians, and perhaps some of his own people, might thinh him to be truly a magician, and might have spoken of him according to this prajudice; but it does not follow, that he used a cup in divining. The Hebra we test of Genesis will bear another construction. Is not this the cup wherein my lord drinks, and searches for so carefully? Or, Is not this the cup wherein my lord drinks, and searches for so carefully? Or, Is not this the cup wherein my lord drinks, and by which he has tried you? He will try whather you are as acknowledging as you ought to be, for the particular favours he has thewn you. This cup will serve to give a proof of your ingratitude and infidelity.

Divination by the wand is taken notice of in Essek. 21. 21, 22. and in Hoa. 4. 12. The king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, to use divination; he made his arrows bright. Either writing on these arrows the names of cities, and countries, then putting them into a quiver, and missing them, and thence drawing Either writing on these arrows the names of cities, and countries, then putting them into a guiver, and mixing them, and thence drawing them out, and concruding according as the names were, which were on the arrows: Or, by shooting the arrows, and judging by their flight; or casing them up in the air, and divining by their fall. In the same passage, divination by the entrails of victims is taken notice of; He consulted with images, he looked into the liver. From the position and colour of the liver, they used to judge of future prosperous, or un-prosperous events.

her a bill of divorcement, &c. Communicators are much divided concerning the sense of these words, because he hath found some uncleanness, or, as the Hebrew has it, matter of nakedness, in her.

He school of Shammah, who lived a little before our Saviour, taught, that a man could not lawfully be divorced from his wife, unless he had found her guilty of some action which was really infamous, and contrary to the rules of virtue. But the school of Hillel, who was Shammah's disciple, taught, on the contrary, that the least reasons were sufficient to authorize a man to put away his wife; for eample, if she did not dress disciple, taught, on the contrary, that the least reasons were sufficient to authorize a man to put axay his wife; for example, if she did not dress his meat well, or if he found any woman whom he liked better. He translated Moses' test thus: If he hath found any thing in her, or an uncleanness. Aktib, he affirmed, that it was sufficient cause for a man to put away his wife, if the were not agreeable to her hubband. Lifter this manner he explained the test of Moses: If she find no favour in his eyes; this was the first sason; the second was, If he find any uncleanness in her. Josephus and Philo thew sufficiently, that in their time the Jews believed divorce to be leafful upon very trivial causes. Dut notking can justify such a procedure but adultery, whereby the marriage relation is radically disolved, Mat. 5.32.

Mat the Pharisees explained this toleration of Moses in the like extensive manner, may be gathered from the question they put to our Seriour, Mat. 19.3, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause: This they proposed to our Seriour, trying if they could get any thing from him to his prejudice. Itself the part of the answered in the affirmative, he had convedicted what he formally delivered on this head, Mat. 5.32. Ilad he denied, they would have

Diseases and death are the consequences and af-

DISEASE.

DISEASE and death are the consequences and offects of sin; this is the idea which we have of stem from scripture. The ancient Hebrews, who were very little versed in the study of natural philosophy, and nos much accustomed to recur to physical causes, and consult physicians, when they were sich, imputed their diseases generally to exil opinits, the secutioners of divine unageance. If their infirmities appeared to be homed what was unail and the cause of them nangeance. If their infirmities appeared to be beyond what was usual, and the causes of them were not known to them, they did not fail to say, that it man a blow from the avenging hand of God; to him the wisest and most religious had recovers for cure; and king Asa is blomed for placing his confidence in physicians, when he had a very pointful fit of the gout in his feet, and for not applying himself to the Lord, & Chron. 16. 12. In his disease he sought not to the Lord, but to the nhysicians. 10% friend immediately 12. In his disease be sought not to the Lord, but to the physicians. Job's friends immediately secrebed all the distempers with which that holy man was afficted, to God's justice, Job 4. 7, 8. Leprosies, which were so common among the Jews, were treated at diseases sent by God; the present were the persons who judged of the nature and qualities of this will, thut up the diseased, and declared that they were healed, or had their leprony upon them; and after their recovery they often sacrifices, as it were to expiate for their judics. Miriam, Gehani, and ting Uzziah, were mustem meadenly with a leprony; the first as a punishment for her detracting discourses; the second for his avances; and the third for his prinniption. Num. 12, 10, 2 Kings 5, 27, 8 Chron. 26, 21.

second for his avarice; and the third for his prenumption. Num. 12, 10. 2 Kings 5, 27.

he New Testament, the cause of many diseases a striving to the devil. It is said there, that the devil had bound the woman, who had been based dearn for eighteen years, Like 13, 16, Ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these dipleten years, to be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day? In verse 11, the same person is maniformed, as having a spirit of infirmity, that is, a sore disease inflicted by the devil. We are told of a domb devil, and of another that could scarce speak, Mark 9, 17. Luke 11, 14. one u, a love audase injuiced by the devil. Me are told of a dumb devil, and of another that could scerce openh, Mark 9, 17. Luke 11. 14, that is to sony, which coured these infirmities in that who were possessed by them: and whenter Christ or his Apostles had a mind to restore these indispressed persons to their health, they began with casting out the devils; for the cure im-nationally followed. The Apostla Paul attributes the death and disease.

Er and Onan, the sous of Judah, were cerried off by unknown diseases, for having committed actions of an infamous and detestable nature, Gen. 38. 7, 10. And the Philistines were smitten with an ignominious disease, for not treating the ark with that respect that it deserved, 1 Sam. 5, 12. There are a great number of diseases recorded in scripture, which were sent by God in the way of possishment for sins.

DISCERN.

Discerning of spirits is one of the gifts of Cod, mentioned by the aportle Paul, 1 Cor. 12. 10.

It consists in discerning among those whe ave they are inspired by God, whether they are animated or inspired by a good or evil spirit, whether they are true or felse prophets. This gift was of very great importance both in the Old Testament, wherein it is found that false prophets often rose up, and reducers who deceived the people; and also in the New, in the primitive ages of the charch, when supernatural gifts were common; when the messenger of Satan was sometimes transformed into an angel of light, and false apostles, under the outward Satan was sometimes transformed into an angel of light, and false operaties, under the outward appearance of thesp, concealed the sentiments of ravening wolves. Wherefore the Evangelist cautioned believer, saying, Believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they be of God, 1 John 4. 1. See in Deut. 18. 20, 21, 22, the marks which are given by God to distinguish the true form false members.

The word Disciple, absolutely taken, signifies, in the New Testament, a believer, a Christian, a scholar, a follower of Christ, or his Apostlas; as in Acts 6.1, When the number of the disciples was mulriplied, there arose a murmuring of the Greeians against the Hebreus, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministration. And in Acts 9.1, Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, that is, against the followers of Christ.

This word comes from the Greek, Diabolos, which signifies a Calumniator, or Accuser, who accuseth us before God day and night, Rev. 12. 9, 10. He hate east off all obdefience to God; and likewise called Bellal, which is an Hebrew word, and signifies one who is good for nothing, a liberting, one that is estremely nicked. 2 Cor. 6. 15, What concord hath Christ with Belial? Allo Satsn, which signifies an Adversary, or an Accuser, in a court of justice. Job 2. 1, Satan came also among them. He is likewise called the old Serpent, Rev. 12. 9. Because he conveyed himself into the serpent, when he tempted Eve; and continually as in full streams, both against Christ and against all his members for his sake: He is always ready, as in a fountain; and runnals continually as in full streams, both against Christ and against all his members for his sake: He is always teady as a support of his sake sprints contribud a temptation, which might be most taking and dangerous to man in his exalted and happy state: He astempts him with art, by propounding the ture of knowledge and pleasure, to invested the septicum, which wight the weakest succead, he addressed the mean, the better succead, he addressed the mean, the hides himself in the body of a serpent, which before sin was not terrible sunce her, and by this instrument instinuates his temptation. before sin was not terrible unto her, and by this instrument instinuates his temptation. He first altered with the hopes of impunity. Ye shall not die; then he promised an universal knuwledge of good and evil. By these pretences he ruined sonocence itself. For the woman, decrived by these specious attractives, swellowed the poison of the serpent; and, having tasted death, she persuaded her hubend, by the same notices, to despite the law of their Creator. Thus sin entered, and brought confusion into the world fan, since his fall, is under the turamwe and tem of their Credior. Into the morted, and foreight confusion into the world fan, since his fall, is under the tyramy and slavery of Satam, who is called the god of this world, 2 Cor. 4. because he rules in wicked men. His old enmity and haved against the souls of men continue: It is amother hell to him to see them restored to the favour of God, and to see them restored to the favour of God, and to see them restored to the favour of God, and to see them restored to the favour of God, and to see them restored to the favour of God, and to see them restored to the favour of God, and the significant is a jealous jailor, and, if possible, will not lose amy of his captives. The scripture represents him as a strong and subtle adversay; a roaning lion that goes about seeking whom he may devour, 1 Pet. 5. B. His title, the Tempter, Mat. 4. 3. implies his constant practice. He bribes some with profit, and althures others with pleasure. He is surprisingly subtle; his strength is aware to ours: his malice is deadly his activity and diligence are equal to his malice; and he has a mighty number of principalities and powers under his command.

Sometimes devil is taken for a wicked man, a liberties.

he has a migaty names y proposers under his command, ometimes devil is taken for a wicked man, a libertime, a trackerous person, John 6, 70, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil? It is taken also for idols, 2 Chron. 11. 15. so called, because the devil is entimently served in the worship of them; and the spirits which were supposed to inhabit them, were still spirits or devils: and because in and by them the devil oftentimes manifested himself to men, and each them answers, and received their vorand gave them enterest manifested himself to men, and gave them enterest, end received their worship. Their morship is an invention of the devil; for mat other desiry besides the devil could require human victims, like those that were sacrified to Moloch? Devil is likevise taken for more control the sufficients to the interests their himself. crycea is motion: Devil is there in the property of the proper which the devilues condemned, and so receive the same proximents which was indicated upon him.

First. 78. 49. He is themise so called, because he makes death more formidable to sinners, by neightening their guilty fears of God's triboust; and this title may also nignty his termmening sinners with unrelenting ernelly in hell, which is the second death. These penul evil which Saten brings upon mankind, are upon the account of our disobedience; and his mighty power in temptation is from our inward corruption. The Lord Jenus by his death hash taken away the guilt any power of sin: the guilt, in enduring the energy of the law, thereby satisfying the injured justice of God; and the power of sit, by crucifying our old man with him, that the body of ain night be destroyed, Rom. 6. 6. And thus our Savious by his death destrous the cruel tyranny of the destruction is taken for a temporal death, Phal. 90. 3, Thou turnest man to destruction. DESTROY.

To destroy, signifies to pull down, or ruin a city, or building, is reliling it with the ground, Gen.
19. 14. The Lord will destroy this city, Exod.
34. 13. Ye shall destroy their altars; that is, ye shall not leave one stone spons another, as our Saviour speaks in Luke 21. 6. Also it nignifies, to take away a thing quite, so as it be no more; in this sense Crivit is said to destroy sin, Rom. 6. 6. That the body of sin might be destroyed; that is, that it might be weakened and subdued more and more, until it be quite taken out of our nature. Sometimes it signifies to bring persons into irrecoverable and utter ruin, and misery; thus God destroys the wicked, Pala. 37. 38. The transgressors shall be destroyed together: and Job 21. 30. The wicked is reserved to the day of destruction. Cod preserves the wicked from the common calamisties of this life, only to destroy them, and display his venegance against them. It is taken, for pranishing transgressors by death, as magistrates. DESTROY. mittes of this life, only to destroy them, and diplay his vengeance against them. It is taken for praising transgressors by death, as magistrates de. Pnal. 101. 8. I will early destroy all the wicked of the land, says David. I will set about this work upon the first opportunity, as soon as I am seated on the throne, that so I may both prevents all that mischief which otherwise they might do; and hinder the infection of others by their soil example; and discourage and deter all my subjects from the like practices. The apostle Paul says, Rom. 14, 15. Destroy not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died. To edily, signifies to build up, strengthen and encourage believers in their faith and profession, by endeavouring to make them more wise, holy, and humble, and to live more to the glary of God. On the contrary, to destroy, implies a doing of that which may tend to the destruction of a meak believer, by drawing him to act against his conscience in the use of things indifferent, or by giving him to great an of genes as may alienate his mind from the Christian profession. The evil spirits say to our Saviour, Mark 1. 24. Art thou come to dispossess us; or, art thou commend us to our chair, before the day of judgment 1 And Christ by his death is said to have the power of death, because he induces men to commit sins that meritoriously render them liable to devil, Heb. 2. 14. The devil is said to have the power of death, because he induces men to commit sins that meritoriously render them liable to death; because he inspires them with furious thoughts, and inflames the pastions, from whence proceed strifes and wars, that efficiently cause death; because he is many simes the executioner of God's wrath, and inflict death upon rebellious and incerrigible sinners; hence says the Pallmist, That God cast upon the Egyptians the flerceness of his anger, wrath, indignation, and trouble, by sending soil angels among them,
